U.N. Nears Showdown On Mideast

TOO BIG A JOB FOR the famed boy at the dike, professionals had to be called in for repairs to the flood wall at Wellsville. An employe of the River Contracting Co. of Pittsburgh hammers away at the 30-year-old inserts at the joints of the wall. Originally sealed with copper, a rubber-type compound now will be used in the "jointing" procedure. A $61,589 contract was awarded the Pittsburgh firm by the Army Corps of Engineers. Work may continue until Oct. 5.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly approached a showdown today on whether any call for Israeli troops to leave captured Arab lands should depend on the Arabs finally declaring peace with Israel.

Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon have held that, despite their armistice agreements with Israel in 1949, the year the Jewish nation was formed by war, they remain in a state of war with her. Egypt has used this to justify keeping Israeli shipping out of the Suez Canal.

The showdown involves two rival resolutions. One introduced by 15 nonaligned nations calls for an immediate Israeli withdrawal from Egypt, Jordan and Syria, and asks that only after withdrawal should the Security Council consider "questions pertaining to the situation in the area."

Latin-American and Western delegations intended to submit a resolution today to have the assembly call for the withdrawal of troops and the renunciation of Arab belligerency, provide for a U.N. representative or mediator to help with a settlement and ask the Security Council to work on further problems.

Each side claimed privately that its resolution could receive the two-thirds vote needed for adoption.

★ ★ ★ Rival Resolutions 'Key' ★ ★ ★

But promotion of the Latin-American draft was considered to have undermined the nonaligned resolution, while Israel's annexation of Jerusalem's Old City, captured from Jordan in the war, appeared to have hurt chances for the Latin-American draft. Some diplomats speculated that neither would pass.

In Thursday's debate, speakers for Peru, Malaysia, Cyprus, Kuwait, Greece and Malta all objected to Israel's merging of the Israeli and Jordanian sectors of Jerusalem. Luis Demetrio Tinoco of Costa Rica called it "an act of arrogance."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban stressed Israel's policy remained "the preservation of the unity of Jerusalem." He said at a news conference, though, that it would keep the holy places open to all faiths and wanted to negotiate with religious leaders about their interest in those places.

Israeli circulated an official statement of Premier Levi Eshkol that until Israel's Arab neighbors abandon their policy of belligerency, "We will not relinquish the areas that are now under our control."

The nonaligned group and the Latin-American group drafted their own resolutions because three proposals already pending all seemed unlikely to pass.

The Soviet Union, which called for the present emergency session, wanted the assembly to condemn "Israel's aggressive activities" and demand immediate troop withdrawals. The United States wanted negotiated arrangements for both withdrawal and a durable peace. Albania's resolution was similar to the Soviet proposal, but added condemnation for what it called "direct participation in this Israeli aggression" by the United States and Britain.

Pilots Direct Heavy Blows At Facilities Near Major Cities

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes chopped up portions of a MIG airfield west of Hanoi and blasted two supply targets on the outskirts of Haiphong Thursday.

U.S. headquarters reported pilots flew 152 missions over North Vietnam, the heaviest directed at supply facilities ringing North Vietnam's capital and its major port city.

The military actions were far overshadowed by the surprise withdrawal of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky from the presidential election race and his agreement to run for vice president on the ticket of his chief military rival, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, now the titular chief of state.

Navy jet bombers from carriers in the South China Sea attacked a petroleum storage area and supply transshipment point, both about 3½ miles west of Haiphong.

The Soviet government charged that the U.S. planes bombed a merchant ship in Haiphong harbor. A U.S. spokesman said returning pilots had reported no such incident and

11 Americans On Airliner Down In Hong Kong Harbor

HONG KONG (AP)—A Thai International Airways Caravelle jet crashed into fog-shrouded, squall-whipped Hong Kong harbor today and it appeared 24 of 80 reported aboard perished.

Airport officials said their count listed 6 known dead, 18 missing and presumed dead, and 56 survivors. Several of the survivors were reported in serious to critical condition.

The 73 passengers listed had boarded at Tokyo, Osaka, and Taipei. Thai Airways withheld the passenger list but airport officials said there were 66 adults, six children, and a baby in arms aboard, plus seven crew members.

At least 11 Americans were reported aboard.

The pilot was a Dane, the other crew members Thais.

Airport officials who saw the crash and passengers interviewed later said the plane appeared to be coming in for a normal landing at Hong Kong's Kai Tak Airport when it suddenly plummeted into the harbor about 250 yards from the end of the runway. The runway extends about a mile into Kowloon Bay, a part of the harbor.

One airport official said a sudden, fierce rain squall may have caused the crash. He commented: "The plane appeared to be making a good approach when a very heavy rain squall suddenly hit. The plane just seemed to drop into the bay."

A passenger, Dr. Stanley Spector of St. Louis, said "Everything seemed to be normal, a routine landing, and then suddenly there were three very heavy bumps and water began pouring into the cabin."

Part of the plane's fuselage still was above water. Divers went into the submerged section and also began searching the harbor bottom near the wreckage.

The plane crashed only a few hundred yards from where a huge four-jet C130 Hercules troop transport plane crashed on takeoff into Kowloon Bay Aug. 24, 1966, killing 58 U.S. Marines who had just completed a week's rest and relaxation visit to Hong Kong.

Castro Gives Kosygin Big Sendoff

Soviet Chief Leaves Cuba And Heads For Paris Talk

This was in contrast to Kosygin's arrival Monday, when the ceremonies were subdued.

An unofficial source said Kosygin's talks with Castro had achieved "good results" because both men reached a "plain understanding."

No details of the talks were available, although one topic presumably was Castro's desire for armed revolution in Latin-American countries where the Soviet Union is trying to build influence and trade relations.

Kosygin arrived in Cuba Monday from New York, where he addressed the emergency session of the U.N. General Assembly on the Middle East crisis. He also met twice with President Johnson during his nine-day visit to the United States.

The Soviet premier stopped at Paris en route to New York to talk with De Gaulle. French sources said Kosygin requested both meetings with the French president.

Kosygin's formal talks with Castro were described by Tass as "frank"—the Soviet indication of disagreement— on Tuesday. Their unexpected Wednesday session was "in a friendly atmosphere," the official Soviet news agency reported.

But there was no indication in Cuba accounts of what was discussed or whether progress was made to narrow differences between the two leaders on the proper Communist stance in Latin America.

The feeling in Havana is that Castro is not expected to budge from his revolutionary position, nor Kosygin from his theme of coexistence and trade with Latin-American nations.

Requires U.S. To Begin Production

General Links Security To Anti-Missile Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top U.S. military officers do not believe Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin has completely slammed the door on an antimissile limitations pact — but they say the United States has dickered with the Soviets over the issue long enough.

"We can't keep on delaying indefinitely," a ranking general said in an interview. National security requires that the United States begin production of an antimissile defense, he said.

Until now, the officer added, the Joint Chiefs of Staff has felt it acceptable and proper that the United States try to persuade the Soviets against continuing a costly defense weapons race.

"Talks were sensible," he said. "But time has marched on and an affirmative decision to deploy antimissiles should be made in the near future."

The officer allowed the interview on condition that he not be named.

His reaction—plus similar statements from influential congressmen—followed Kosygin's televised comments in New York Sunday which lent no optimism to prospects for a curb on antiballistic missile, or so-called ABM systems.

Kosygin said any U.S.-Soviet discussions should center on the whole area of offensive and defensive armament. "Because, after all," he said, "the antimissile system is not a weapon of aggression, of attack; it is a defensive system."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said Kosygin's remarks dashed cold water on prospects for an ABM moratorium, and declared the administration should "get off dead center and get going on a thin defense."

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee, was quoted Thursday as saying those who hold out hopes for an ABM agreement with the Soviets perpetrate a cruel hoax on the American people.

While the general felt Kosygin's remarks should not be construed as a flat rejection of an ABM pact, he noted they were "not encouraging to the conduct of future talks."

Furthermore, he said, administration efforts for an ABM ban since last November have been unsuccessful — private overtures to the Soviets have yielded no positive results.

As a result, he said, the United States should proceed in deploying the missile batteries and radars that make up the Nike X system, the American counterpart to the Soviet ABM.

Illustrating the military's feeling of urgency about the problem, the officer said the Joint Chiefs of Staff would be willing to accept a so-called thin, $3-billion to $5-billion version of Nike X as a first step toward getting a full antimissile network for the country.

The joint chiefs last year unanimously recommended to President Johnson that work be launched on a $10-billion system which would provide defense for 25 major cities. This could serve as the foundation for a $20-bil-

In Attack On Haiphong Harbor

Pentagon Admits Bomb May Have Hit Soviet Ship

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon conceded today American bombers may have hit a Soviet ship moored nearby as they attacked Haiphong harbor oil installations.

The statement from the Defense Department followed quickly on the heels of an announcement from Moscow that a "resolute protest" had been lodged over such an incident.

It was the second incident this month involving U.S. planes and a Soviet ship in Haiphong harbor.

The U.S. statement:

"During an attack on the Haiphong petroleum storage facilities located in the dock area in Haiphong two U.S. aircraft assigned to protect the bombing planes from ground air defenses attacked an air defense site approximately 500 yards from the location of the ship which the Soviets state was damaged.

"Although pilots are under instructions to avoid Soviet shipping, it is possible that certain of the ordnance directed at the antiaircraft site fell on the ship.

"Commanders have been asked to examine flight paths and post-strike photography to obtain all possible information on the incident."

The protest note delivered to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow said an antipersonnel bomb damaged the Soviet merchant ship Mikhail Frunze Thursday while it was moored in Haiphong harbor.

"The Soviet government with all seriousness warns that the responsibility for the dangerous, piratic actions of the American Air Force will lay upon the gov-

23 Petitions Received For Street Surfacing

Twenty-three petitions had been received at City Hall at mid-morning for the city's annual summer low-cost street surfacing program.

Today is the deadline for requests for improvements on unsurfaced streets. The city pays half the cost of each project, plus the cost of intersections, with property - owners paying the balance. Nearly 50 of the petitions have been in circulation.

When the total number of square feet of surface involved has been computed, Council will authorize the administration to call for bids and enter into a contract.

Negro Youths Roam In Buffalo

12 Wounded In Race Riot

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Twelve persons were wounded with shotgun pellets, 18 others injured and more than 100 arrested as roaming Negro youths rioted in this city's shabby East Side for a third successive night.

Four hundred helmeted police, armed with shotguns and tear gas moved in quickly to disperse crowds. Again and again, clusters collected and were broken up. Each time a police van carted defiant Negroes to headquarters for bookings on mostly minor charges.

Newsmen described Thursday night's disorders as sporadic, despite the violence; more subdued than Wednesday when large gangs rampaged through the predominantly Negro area, looting, smashing and burning.

The subtle difference was in the attitude of the police, newsmen said. "They were on the offensive," a veteran reporter added.

The neighboring city of Niagara Falls also was affected for a second successive night. At least four persons were arrested and a policeman was struck by a thrown rock.

Police moved quickly into the troubled area, however, and quelled the disturbance by 3 a.m. tday.

Bands of Negroes in their late teens and early 20s caused the disorder in Buffalo Thursday night. On Tuesday and Wednesday nights, many of those who took to the streets were children, not yet 13.

Police estimated that about 1,000 Negroes- some carrying rocks and others armed with knives—roamed the streets of the mile-square area with the heaviest concentration in the Jefferson-Ferry-Madison avenues section.

In three nights of rioting, the fire department estimated that about 150 fires had been set deliberately, many of them with home-made gasoline bombs. At least 20 fires, most of them minor, were touched off Thursday night.

Firemen said two gasoline bombs had been used to destroy a two-story frame house occupied by Alice McClure and her five children.

Police reported that looting did not pose a serious problem Thursday night, as it had on Wednesday, when scores of business places were ransacked.

They arrested almost anyone who failed to move along when ordered to do so.

Of this city's 1,300-member police force, 500 were on duty. Four hundred policemen were concentrated in the slum area. Some plainclothes detectives also were ordered into uniform.

As in the previous two nights, the rioters roamed the streets in gangs of various size, milling about and harassing motorists. They quickly slipped away when police arrived.

The outbreak began slowly, growing in intensity between 10:30 p.m. Thursday and 2 a.m. today. By 4 a.m. quiet prevailed. Roadblocks around the Negro community were removed.

Police estimated that fewer than 20 business establishments had been entered. They reported, however, that windows of

No Evidence To Refute Warren Report

AP, CBS Conclude Oswald Alone In Kennedy Killing

NEW YORK (AP) — The Warren Report and the critics who threw its findings into doubt have come under the searching inquiry of three major news organizations within the past two weeks.

The Associated Press and the Columbia Broadcasting System examined in detail the report and its critics, and reached similar conclusions:

That despite shortcomings of the Warren Report nothing has been uncovered to refute its finding that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone — in view of no evidence to the contrary — in killing President John F. Kennedy.

The AP's findings were contained in a 20,000-word report released last Sunday. The CBS inquiry was broadcast this week in four one-hour parts Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

In addition, the National Broadcasting Co. said in a one-hour program June 19 that the conspiracy case of New Orleans Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison was based on testimony that did not pass a lie detector test and that Garrison's staff had threatened and offered inducements to potential witnesses. Garrison denied any threats or inducements.

Not long after the seven members of the Warren Commission issued their report Sept. 24, 1964, doubts began to overtake it. A barrage of books and articles hammered away at it until polls showed most Americans had come to suspect its conclusion.

But in its study The AP said the "critics have produced little in the way of new evidence. What they have done is use what the commission provides in its 26 volumes of testimony and exhibits — but to different conclusions. The critics' case rests on the same bedrock as the commission's—the Warren Report.

"They have sat in judgment of the Warren Commission and found it wanting," The AP said. "But they are not judges. They have been prosecutors, making a case. Where fact has served, they have used it. Where it has not, they have not."

The AP also cited examples of conclusions reached by the critics that contradict the testimony on which they are based.

Grocer Faces 5 Charges As Bank Bandit

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The U.S. Attorney's office in Pittsburgh says William E. Zeiler, 52, the man being held as the "Commuter Bandit," will be charged with five Pittsburgh bank robberies sometime next week.

Zeiler was arrested at his small North Side grocery last Friday and charged with the $9,607 robbery of a branch bank in the city's Oakland section on Sept. 23, 1963.

The commuter bandit is blamed by the FBI and police for holding up 16 Pittsburgh banks over a five-and-a-half-year period dating back to 1961. The amount of loot taken in those robberies totaled some $200,000.

The U.S. Attorney's office did not say which additional robberies Zeiler will be charged nor did it say what day the hearing will be held.

An alleged accomplice of the commuter, Richard P. Chiocca, 27, of the city's Mt. Washington area, is in Allegheny County Jail after failing to meet $25,000 bond. He gave himself up to the FBI Thursday. He was charged with the $14,040 holdup of a Carrick section bank on Aug. 24, 1964.

The FBI says Zeiler bought the getaway car used in that holdup.

Police moved quickly into the troubled area, however, and quelled the disturbance by 3 a.m. tday.

Bands of Negroes in their late teens and early 20s caused the disorder in Buffalo Thursday night. On Tuesday and Wednesday nights, many of those who took to the streets were children, not yet 13.

Police estimated that about 1,000 Negroes—some carrying rocks and others armed with knives—roamed the streets of the mile-square area with the heaviest concentration in the Jefferson-Ferry-Madison avenues section.

In three nights of rioting, the fire department estimated that about 150 fires had been set deliberately, many of them with home-made gasoline bombs. At least 20 fires, most of them minor, were touched off Thursday night.

Firemen said two gasoline bombs had been used to destroy a two-story frame house occupied by Alice McClure and her five children.

Police reported that looting did not pose a serious problem Thursday night, as it had on Wednesday, when scores of business places were ransacked.

They arrested almost anyone who failed to move along when ordered to do so.

Of this city's 1,300-member police force, 500 were on duty. Four hundred policemen were concentrated in the slum area. Some plainclothes detectives also were ordered into uniform.

As in the previous two nights, the rioters roamed the streets in gangs of various size, milling about and harassing motorists. They quickly slipped away when police arrived.

The outbreak began slowly, growing in intensity between 10:30 p.m. Thursday and 2 a.m. today. By 4 a.m. quiet prevailed. Roadblocks around the Negro community were removed.

Police estimated that fewer than 20 business establishments had been entered. They reported, however, that windows of

No Evidence To Refute Warren Report

AP, CBS Conclude Oswald Alone In Kennedy Killing

NEW YORK (AP) — The Warren Report and the critics who threw its findings into doubt have come under the searching inquiry of three major news organizations within the past two weeks.

The Associated Press and the Columbia Broadcasting System examined in detail the report and its critics, and reached similar conclusions:

That despite shortcomings of the Warren Report nothing has been uncovered to refute its finding that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone — in view of no evidence to the contrary — in killing President John F. Kennedy.

The AP's findings were contained in a 20,000-word report released last Sunday. The CBS inquiry was broadcast this week in four one-hour parts Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

In addition, the National Broadcasting Co. said in a one-hour program June 19 that the conspiracy case of New Orleans Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison was based on testimony that did not pass a lie detector test and that Garrison's staff had threatened and offered inducements to potential witnesses. Garrison denied any threats or inducements.

Not long after the seven members of the Warren Commission issued their report Sept. 24, 1964, doubts began to overtake it. A barrage of books and articles hammered away at it until polls showed most Americans had come to suspect its conclusion.

But in its study The AP said the "critics have produced little in the way of new evidence. What they have done is use what the commission provides in its 26 volumes of testimony and exhibits — but to different conclusions. The critics' case rests on the same bedrock as the commission's—the Warren Report.

"They have sat in judgment of the Warren Commission and found it wanting," The AP said. "But they are not judges. They have been prosecutors, making a case. Where fact has served, they have used it. Where it has not, they have not."

The AP also cited examples of conclusions reached by the critics that contradict the testimony on which they are based.

The AP report was written by

Grocer Faces 5 Charges As Bank Bandit

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The U.S. Attorney's office in Pittsburgh says William E. Zeiler, 52, the man being held as the "Commuter Bandit," will be charged with five Pittsburgh bank robberies sometime next week.

Zeiler was arrested at his small North Side grocery last Friday and charged with the $9,607 robbery of a branch bank in the city's Oakland section on Sept. 23, 1963.

The commuter bandit is blamed by the FBI and police for holding up 16 Pittsburgh banks over a five-and-a-half-year period dating back to 1961. The amount of loot taken in those robberies totaled some $200,000.

The U.S. Attorney's office did not say which additional robberies Zeiler will be charged nor did it say what day the hearing will be held.

An alleged accomplice of the commuter, Richard P. Chiocca, 27, of the city's Mt. Washington area, is in Allegheny County Jail after failing to meet $25,000 bond. He gave himself up to the FBI Thursday. He was charged with the $14,040 holdup of a Carrick section bank on Aug. 24, 1964.

Notices Drafted On Assessments For New Lights

Auditor Lawrence J. Zollinger said today he will mail notices of assessment Saturday to 110 property owners in the central business district, listing the amounts which they owe as their annual share of the cost of a new fluorescent streetlight system.

A total of 5,743 feet will be assessed at $1.36 a foot, the same charge as for 1966-67. The overall charge against the property owners will be $7,805.89.

The assessments are payable in cash until Aug. 1. Those not paid by the deadline will be certified to County Auditor Kenneth Bell for collection on the real estate tax duplicate. A 3 per cent collection fee is added when the charges are tacked onto the tax bills.

Owners of business property signed petitions in 1963 in which they agreed to pay the difference in annual costs between the new lights and the old system of incandescent lights. The maximum assessment permitted by ordinance is $1.68 a foot.

The assessing ordinance for the current year was approved by Council June 19.

Some Teachers Are Still Needed, Blair Points Out

Supt. Paul Blair today said several teachers are needed prior to the opening of the 1967-68 term in September, but pointed out the situation is not as serious as it was last year.

Twenty instructors have retired or resigned to date, but many of these positions have been filled.

Blair reminded that the July 10 deadline for signing contracts is nearing, and pointed out that no instructor will be released from a contract after that date unless a competent replacement is obtained.

Needed in the system are a high school art instructor, industrial arts teachers in wood, metal and mechanical drawing, a vocal music supervisor, a biology instructor and four elementary teachers.

Also needed is a junior high science teacher. Blair said he would prefer someone who also could serve as a basketball coach.

ernment of the United States," the note said.

The note did not mention the earlier Soviet threat to take "appropriate measures to ensure the safety of its ships," that was issued after the first such incident, the asserted bombing June 2 of the Soviet merchant ship Turkestan in Cam Pha.

The note today demanded "effective guarantees" that such attacks end and "strict punishment for the guilty."

Unlike the first incident this month there was no immediate indication that Soviet crewmen on the Frunze were killed or injured.

The Soviets said one crew member was killed in the raid on the Turkestan and several others were injured.

The United States first denied the Soviet charges. But on June 20 the State Department issued a statement expressing regret and saying it was possible that American planes hit the Soviet ship during a raid on North Vietnamese antiaircraft installations.

ernment of the United States," the note said.

The note did not mention the earlier Soviet threat to take "appropriate measures to ensure the safety of its ships," that was issued after the first such incident, the asserted bombing June 2 of the Soviet merchant ship Turkestan in Cam Pha.

The note today demanded "effective guarantees" that such attacks end and "strict punishment for the guilty."

Unlike the first incident this month there was no immediate indication that Soviet crewmen on the Frunze were killed or injured.

The Soviets said one crew member was killed in the raid on the Turkestan and several others were injured.

The United States first denied the Soviet charges. But on June 20 the State Department issued a statement expressing regret and saying it was possible that American planes hit the Soviet ship during a raid on North Vietnamese antiaircraft installations.

Placard Political Action

Picketing — such as undertaken earlier this week by Newell women demanding street repairs — is a kind of last-resort method of democratic action, one which generally draws the public attention it seeks.

This placard bearing and parading on sidewalks is an admission of failure — failure of the picketers to achieve their goals by conventional means, failure of those picketed to realize the urgency of the needs, failure of both to obtain a solution to the problem.

Too often the demonstrations erupt from a sudden pique of a small group, a dissatisfaction with the slower processes of government, a lack of understanding of the complexities of economics and operations of large-scale government or business.

Also, an unnecessarily adamant stand by leaders, misjudgments, unequal distribution of government services can bring determined housewives on the march.

In any situation, picketing should be the recourse of the public only after the routine use of representative channels, after meetings, conferences, negotiations and thorough discussion of the problems and possible solutions involved.

In some past cases, the action which apparently followed a picketing incident was in reality the result of a previously determined plan to which the demonstration was merely coincidential.

In other cases, men and women taking up signs against a sea of troubles compelled governmental authorities to "do something."

Peaceful picketing can work this needed reaction. Slowing traffic, barricading roads, harassing others is a step beyond, which not only enters the area of the improper and illegal, but which poses a threat to public sympathy for a just cause.

Picketing can make it so. But going through the recognized procedures of government first can insure that the picketing is purposeful, necessary and proposes a possible solution.

Why The Credibility Gap?

The intriguing and sinister aspect of the credibility gap is that it is growing instead of diminishing. Those who could be stunting its growth are causing it to mushroom.

The gap has been emphasized spectacularly by public skepticism about the Vietnam War.

The American Society of Newspaper Editors, meeting in Washington April 20, heard its Freedom of Information Committee speak out on the lack of confidence in the government.

The committee said the Johnson administration's credibility gap resulted in part from "an unjustified preoccupation with domestic political considerations."

President Johnson's attempt "to make the news sound or seem better than it is evident with respect to many kinds of news," the committee reported, but was "most damaging in connection with Vietnam."

No one who has followed events of the Vietnam War can escape the multitude of incidents where truth has been handled in a loose manner.

Starting from the time Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara painted himself into a number of corners with over-optimistic statements about troop commitments, length of the war and who was winning, the situation has deteriorated.

The American public realizes that when the United States is at war there will be some information that is classified, some mysteries that will not be cleared up. This is acceptable.

What is being rejected is the continuing policy of denial closely followed by retraction of the denial.

When U.S. planes bombed the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong for the first time April 20, a U.S. statement said the strikes were 1.1 mile northwest of the city.

Later U.S. authorities said the strikes were inside the city limits. Actually, one of the power plants hit by bombs was in the center of the city.

The same is true in cases where ships of other nations are hit during raids in the north, or Chinese air space violated. The list is lengthy.

The average American will accept the fact his government is capable of making errors. But when vehement denials are followed by weak admissions of guilt, he loses faith.

The absence of a concerted effort at all levels of the government to avoid additional embarrassing incidents is perplexing.

In a time of continuing world crises, our nation is in desperate need of unity. It cannot be accomplished through present policies of information dissemination that have only a slight acquaintance with truth.

Help For Stranded Motorists

How many times have you been buzzing along Ohio's busy highways, spotted a car pulled off to the side and wondered whether you should stop?

Anyone who has ever received a helping hand from a passing motorist when stalled along the highway can attest to the overwhelming feeling of gratitude to the Good Samaritan.

Others can attest to the frustration of being stranded on a super highway with a disabled auto while fellow motorists whiz past like they were in the straight-away at the Indianapolis Speedway.

Still others can tell of times they have stopped to offer assistance only to find someone else already had stopped and was on his way to report the need for assistance.

It seems with an organized campaign we could eliminate most of the confusion about rendering assistance along Ohio's highways.

We propose that next year when license plates are purchased by Ohio motorists, instead of the map of Ohio or litter bags being passed out a glove-compartment size pennant be distributed.

It should be bright red and made to fit over the tip of an auto's radio antenna.

They also could be available at roadside rest parks for tourists and people who misplace them.

Then when a motorist is forced to the highway sidelines and needs some help, he would slip the pennant over the radio antenna as a distress signal.

A passing motorist would know instantly he could be of assistance.

This would inform other drivers the situation is under control and they can continue with their travel without an unnecessary stop.

Help would find its way to those who need it quickly and needless stops would be eliminated.

Those caught without a pennant could attach a piece of paper or tie their handkerchief to the antenna.

Out-of-state drivers would have to depend on passing motorists to catch their strange license plate.

We feel full public cooperation with such a program would make Ohio highway travel even more pleasant.

The program would not be any more expensive than the Wonderful World of Ohio litter-bag promotion.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: You have raised an interesting point about the American illusion concerning conspiracies.

Your aunt and I think it is a form of mass paranoia, like the Germans had when they ran amuck in 1939.

They thought everybody was against them — closing in on them from all sides. So they fell for the oratory of Hitler, who was a paranoiac looney.

Mass insanity has taken a different form in this country.

We must believe everything bad that happens to us is the result of a conspiracy because we cannot stand the truth, which is that the bad things that happen to us are the result of our own mistakes.

As has been made abundantly clear in the case of the Kennedy assassination, we are suckers for scattered-brained theories about conspiracies because we cannot face the truth.

The truth is that the FBI should have had Oswald penned up in a side street that day in Dallas because he was an angry and officially recognized kook. Kennedy should have had the top on the limousine because he was in an unfriendly city and had been warned by knowledgeable people he was flirting with physical violence.

The Secret Service men should have been screening the President. The limousine should have been kept moving briskly in the presence of known dangers. The muddle-headed Texas police should have had their heads examined. The whole thing was a tragedy of errors.

But we can't bear the evidence of stupidity, so we think up stories about conspiracy. We do what individuals do when they blame everything they can think of for their own failures.

When practiced in the mass, this becomes a national mental illness. People accuse one another of being mixed up in plots to do mischief. They look for scapegoats to blame for everything.

We have an obligation to look at ourselves and put responsibility where it belongs. In our national affairs, for example, we have been blaming Communists for everything so long we have forgotten how to accept responsibility for our own goofs.

There are conspiracies — no doubt about it. But most things that turn sour in this country are the consequence of personal and mass stupidity.

Only a primitive mind can believe leaves grow on the trees because of a super-plan, or crops fail because someone forgot to perform a voodoo ritual.

To get down to cases, only a primitive mentality can blame everything currently giving us fits on anything but our own stupidity. We made these things happen with our own muddle-headedness. We didn't need a conspiracy. We louse up things on our own initiative, with no help from bogeymen and witches.

Your Aunt Effie concurs in these thoughts and asks me to close this missive with a joint "Boo!" from the both of us. Double boo!

Negro Leaders Want Action

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON, — All along a vast new front, American Negroes, backed by the government's might, including the Pentagon as well as the Labor Dept. and its enforcement agencies, are wheeling their legions into place for a drive on a massive target — the nation's sprawling heavy industries.

Victor Riesel

Leaders of Negro workers no longer will be satisfied with even mass hirings which have put as many as 5,000 to 10,000 of their brethren in a single auto, steel or shipbuilding installation. Their campaign now will be targeted at upgrading, promotions, and development into foremen and higher supervisory staffs.

Soon the public will see a shift from the constant asssaults on the building and construction trades. This fight still flash-fires across the land wherever millions of federal dollars are poured into huge structures and centers. But in some Negro communities there now is an almost "the hell with it" attitude. These pace setters see massive success mainly in the mass production industries.

AND SO CORE, the NAACP and the Negro American Labor Council have taken to the big picket lines, the bus caravans and the confrontation with management and unions alike in the steel, auto and shipbuilding fields. There are no headlines yet. News flashes are the camp followers of turbulence. But the news is in the making.

It is probably best to start with a meeting in Cleveland's Hotel Statler on the night of April 21 where tense men and women sat like animated characters in a skillfully paced theatrical drama There was the urban, articulate and possibly the President's most cultured adviser and envoy to the poor, Willard Wirtz, Secretary of Labor. Facing him was the profile of the Negro community — articulate, volatile and sometimes inarticulate, but always expressive — gang leaders. Black Muslims, labor leaders, CORE people and those from the NAACP and the Urban League.

Wirtz explained the government's new "concentrated Employment Program." He had the backing and active cooperation of men from the inner sanctums of the big utility companies, Standard Oil, and other corporations from the hard rock of American industrialism.

The program was set to spend $5 million to get the "disadvantaged and unemployed" into jobs. He outlined a system of "coaches." One for every 20 being rehabilitated, all the way from teaching them to use of transportation to developing regular work habits. If they were absent, confused or dropouts, the coaches would go into the slum communities and find out why his proteges were falling away.

SOMEWHERE DURING the dialogue, Frank K. Evans, a local Negro union official and head of the Negro American Labor Council in Cleveland spoke up.

"Where we really need the help is the upgrading in the industrial area," said Evans. "We can get jobs in mass industries. It is freer. There is no discrimination in hiring. But after we get in, it is a different question. Our problem is to rise to foremen and supervisors and better paying jobs inside. This is where the Negroes don't move.

"We meet mass movement here. We talk much about the construction trades. Even if we got every apprenticeship opening in the building trades it would not really make a dent in our problem. It would be a drop in the bucket. We must turn to industrial entries and hit those problems on upgrading."

ABOUT A MONTH LATER, CORE and the NAACP in a distant city decided to move. Their target was and is the Bethlehem Steel Co., which for many years has had a Negro integration policy. At the Sparrows Point plant there, some 10,000 Negroes earn their daily bread. But the caravans sped some 300 Negro activists to picket the Labor Dept. in Washington early on May 26 to demand swifter movement at the huge steel plant. Soon Willard Wirtz returned to the building to confer with them for three hours. Another session was set for May 13. And then the Dept. of Defense got off a letter to the Bethlehem management.

A few days later, June 12, the NAACP decided to move on a big Ford plant. But there as well as at Bethlehem and in all the other mile-long, smoke-stacked mills, seniority and promotions and supervisory staffing involves management's relations with the big unions not generally the Negroes' target. So the NAACP called on the United Auto Workers. And so it is going across the land. Now not just four or seven plumbers or electricians are involved. The masses are involved. Thus the revolution

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

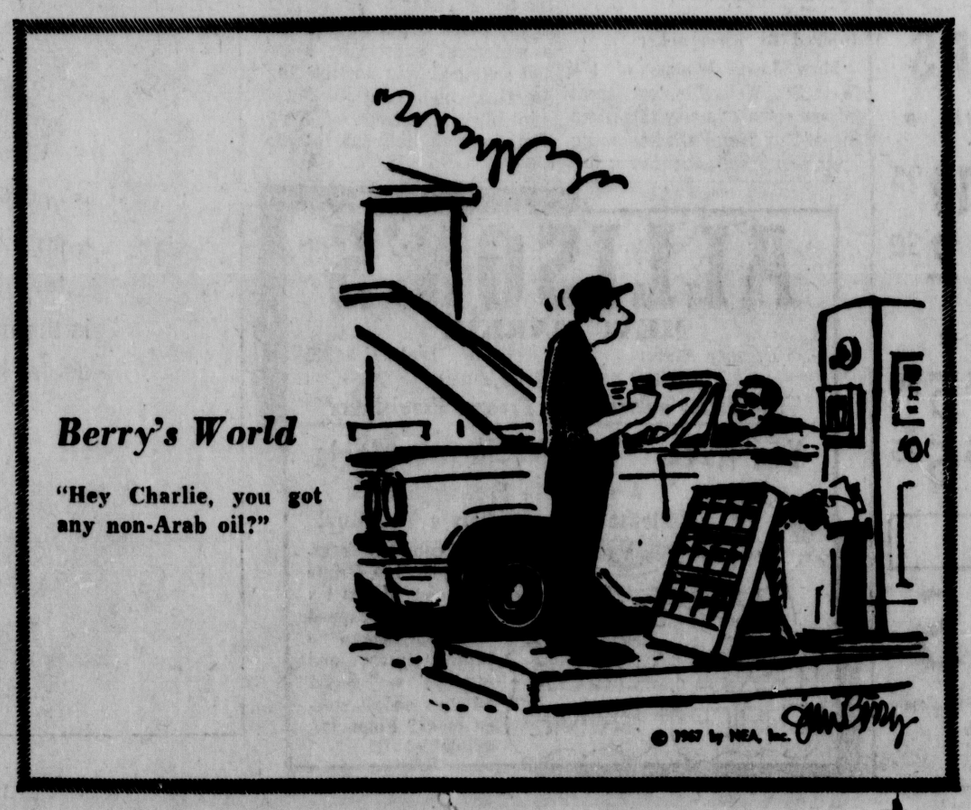

I am writing this letter to tell you how a resident feels about the Columbiana County Home. I came here in January of this year and I believe it was the best thing I ever did.

I visited the home before I came. My minister, Rev. Hampton, and his wife brought me to see the home, and when I talked to Mrs. Boyce, a great load was lifted off my mind, for I knew I would get the care I need.

I love the people here, both the residents and employes; I would rather be here than with any relative I have. I don't know anything about politics or finances. Don't get the wrong idea about what I said about my relatives, for I love them dearly, but they could not give me what I have here. The food is excellent and so are the cooks. I like Mr. Boyce and I hope this letter will express how I feel.

My family thought it was the best thing I ever did. So do I.

Kremlin's PR

Moscow Mistakes Seen

Moscow needs a few "public relations" men to keep the Kremlin from making such a colossal mistake as it did in ordering Premier Kosygin to visit Fidel Castro, head of the dictatorship in Cuba.

Just as thoughts were turning toward a peaceful relationship between the Soviet Union and the United States, the premier's trip to Havana reminds the American people of the Russian bases established in Cuba in 1962.

From territory only 90 miles away, missiles with nuclear warheads could have been launched to kill millions of Americans in the southeastern section of this country.

The Kosygin-Castro conference also focuses attention on guerrilla activities being constantly instigated in various Latin-American countries by the Communist-controlled regime in Cuba.

Recent reports indicate that while there have been some differences between Havana and Moscow, Cuba is still the principal base of the Communist apparatus in this hemisphere. This is blatant defiance of the Monroe Doctrine.

United Press International, in a dispatch from London, attributed to "authoritative diplomatic sources" there this explanation of why Premier Kosygin went to Havana:

"THE MIDEAST crisis and the demand for more Soviet aid from the Arab countries has heightened the Cuban problem for Moscow, which has been 'keeping' Cuba at the rate of some one million dollars a day.

"The timing of Kosygin's trip is significant, in that it comes on the eve of the so-called Latin-American solidarity conference due to open in Havana July 28. It is being organized by the Latin-American Solidarity Organization of some 27 revolutionary Latin-American movements.

"Current plans envisage the setting up of Castro-type guerrilla groups in Latin-American countries with armed insurrection as one of the key objectives."

Coincidentally, a special commission of the Organization of American States has just finished an investigation of charges by Venezuela that Communist Cuba is responsible for aggressive activities on its soil. The OAS findings are expected to substantiate the Venezuelan claim.

Havana has officially admitted that Cubans landed in Venezuela with a group of guerrillas last month, and Castro is openly supporting revoluntary movements in Latin America. There are, of course, Russian technicans and advisers still in Cuba.

Unwittingly, the Kremlin has aroused the feeling here that emphasis is given Cuba at this time is part of a Soviet policy of threatening the United States that, if it doesn't stop supporting governments on other continents Communists will step up their infiltration and subversion in Latin-American states.

NEARLY EVERY country in this hemisphere is troubled by Communist undergrounds. All this increases the friction between Moscow and Washington which has been steadily growing in the Middle East and in Vietnam.

Someday there could emerge in the Soviet Union an aroused public opinion to insist that a real peace be established with the United States.

The Russian people have suffered huge losses in war. In World War I, more than 76 per cent of the 12,000,000 men in their mobilized forces were killed, wounded, or listed as missing.

In World War II, 7,500,000 men in the Soviet armed forces were killed, and at least 14,000,000 others were wounded. These figures do not include casualties among civilians, which ran into millions.

The people of the Soviet Union don't want war, but they don't yet know their own government is today sowing the seeds of another world war.

If they once discover this truth, a revolution may be expected to break out. That's why the Soviet press and radio and television are always heavily censored and, indeed, why the people were told so little about the critical problems that were not resolved in the Johnson-Kosygin meetings.

Placard Political Action

Picketing — such as undertaken earlier this week by Newell women demanding street repairs — is a kind of last-resort method of democratic action, one which generally draws the public attention it seeks.

This placard bearing and parading on sidewalks is an admission of failure — failure of the picketers to achieve their goals by conventional means, failure of those picketed to realize the urgency of the needs, failure of both to obtain a solution to the problem.

Too often the demonstrations erupt from a sudden pique of a small group, a dissatisfaction with the slower processes of government, a lack of understanding of the complexities of economics and operations of large-scale government or business.

Also, an unnecessarily adamant stand by leaders, misjudgments, unequal distribution of government services can bring determined housewives on the march.

In any situation, picketing should be the recourse of the public only after the routine use of representative channels, after meetings, conferences, negotiations and thorough discussion of the problems and possible solutions involved.

In some past cases, the action which apparently followed a picketing incident was in reality the result of a previously determined plan to which the demonstration was merely coincidential.

In other cases, men and women taking up signs against a sea of troubles compelled governmental authorities to "do something."

Peaceful picketing can work this needed reaction. Slowing traffic, barricading roads, harassing others is a step beyond, which not only enters the area of the improper and illegal, but which poses a threat to public sympathy for a just cause.

Picketing can make it so. But going through the recognized procedures of government first can insure that the picketing is purposeful, necessary and proposes a possible solution.

Why The Credibility Gap?

The "credibility gap" is unique among America's phenomena.

The intriguing and sinister aspect of the credibility gap is that it is growing instead of diminishing. Those who could be stunting its growth are causing it to mushroom.

The gap has been emphasized spectacularly by public skepticism about the Vietnam War.

The American Society of Newspaper Editors, meeting in Washington April 20, heard its Freedom of Information Committee speak out on the lack of confidence in the government.

The committee said the Johnson administration's credibility gap resulted in part from "an unjustified preoccupation with domestic political considerations."

President Johnson's attempt "to make the news sound or seem better than it is evident with respect to many kinds of news," the committee reported, but was "most damaging in connection with Vietnam."

No one who has followed events of the Vietnam War can escape the multitude of incidents where truth has been handled in a loose manner.

Starting from the time Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara painted himself into a number of corners with over-optimistic statements about troop commitments, length of the war and who was winning, the situation has deteriorated.

The American public realizes that when the United States is at war there will be some information that is classified, some mysteries that will not be cleared up. This is acceptable.

What is being rejected is the continuing policy of denial closely followed by retraction of the denial.

When U.S. planes bombed the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong for the first time April 20, a U.S. statement said the strikes were 1.1 mile northwest of the city.

Later U.S. authorities said the strikes were inside the city limits. Actually, one of the power plants hit by bombs was in the center of the city.

The same is true in cases where ships of other nations are hit during raids in the north, or Chinese air space violated. The list is lengthy.

The average American will accept the fact his government is capable of making errors. But when vehement denials are followed by weak admissions of guilt, he loses faith.

The absence of a concerted effort at all levels of the government to avoid additional embarrassing incidents is perplexing.

In a time of continuing world crises, our nation is in desperate need of unity. It cannot be accomplished through present policies of information dissemination that have only a slight acquaintance with truth.

Help For Stranded Motorists

How many times have you been buzzing along Ohio's busy highways, spotted a car pulled off to the side and wondered whether you should stop?

Anyone who has ever received a helping hand from a passing motorist when stalled along the highway can attest to the overwhelming feeling of gratitude to the Good Samaritan.

Others can attest to the frustration of being stranded on a super highway with a disabled auto while fellow motorists whiz past like they were in the straight-away at the Indianapolis Speedway.

Still others can tell of times they have stopped to offer assistance only to find someone else already had stopped and was on his way to report the need for assistance.

It seems with an organized campaign we could eliminate most of the confusion about rendering assistance along Ohio's highways.

We propose that next year when license plates are purchased by Ohio motorists, instead of the map of Ohio or litter bags being passed out a glove-compartment size pennant be distributed.

It should be bright red and made to fit over the tip of an auto's radio antenna.

They also could be available at roadside rest parks for tourists and people who misplace them.

Then when a motorist is forced to the highway sidelines and needs some help, he would slip the pennant over the radio antenna as a distress signal.

A passing motorist would know instantly he could be of assistance.

This would inform other drivers the situation is under control and they can continue with their travel without an unnecessary stop.

Help would find its way to those who need it quickly and needless stops would be eliminated.

Those caught without a pennant could attach a piece of paper or tie their handkerchief to the antenna.

Out-of-state drivers would have to depend on passing motorists to catch their strange license plate.

We feel full public cooperation with such a program would make Ohio highway travel even more pleasant.

The program would not be any more expensive than the Wonderful World of Ohio litter-bag promotion.

We feel it is worth a try.

Dear Nephew: You have raised an interesting point about the American illusion concerning conspiracies.

Your aunt and I think it is a form of mass paronoia, like the Germans had when they ran amuck in 1939.

They thought everybody was against them — closing in on them from all sides. So they fell for the oratory of Hitler, who was a paranoiac looney.

Mass insanity has taken a different form in this country.

We must believe everything bad that happens to us is the result of a conspiracy because we cannot stand the truth, which is that the bad things that happen to us are the result of our own mistakes.

As has been made abundantly clear in the case of the Kennedy assassination, we are suckers for scattered-brained theories about conspiracies because we cannot face the truth.

The truth is that the FBI should have had Oswald penned up in a side street that day in Dallas because he was an angry and officially recognized kook. Kennedy should have had the top on the limousine because he was in an unfriendly city and had been warned by knowledgeable people he was flirting with physical violence.

The Secret Service men should have been screening the President. The limousine should have been kept moving briskly in the presence of known dangers. The muddle-headed Texas police should have had their heads examined. The whole thing was a tragedy of errors.

But we can't bear the evidence of stupidity, so we think up stories about conspiracy. We do what individuals do when they blame everything they can think of for their own failures.

When practiced in the mass, this becomes a national mental illness. People accuse one another of being mixed up in plots to do mischief. They look for scapegoats to blame for everything.

We have an obligation to look at ourselves and put responsibility where it belongs. In our national affairs, for example, we have been blaming Communists for everything so long we have forgotten how to accept responsibility for our own goofs.

There are conspiracies — no doubt about it. But most things that turn sour in this country are the consequence of personal and mass stupidity.

Only a primitive mind can believe leaves grow on the trees because of a super-plan, or crops fail because someone forgot to perform a voodoo ritual.

To get down to cases, only a primitive mentality can blame everything currently giving us fits on anything but our own stupidity. We made these things happen with our own muddle-headedness. We didn't need a conspiracy. We louse up things on our own initiative, with no help from bogeymen and witches.

Your Aunt Effie concurs in these thoughts and asks me to close this missive with a joint "Boo!" from the both of us. Double boo!

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Tip For Restaurant Diners

"Will you please give slimming tips for restaurant diners?" a career woman asks.

For anyone who eats out often, it is a good plan to order the main course rather than the complete dinner. Weight control is 90 percent attitude. When you desire to slim down that attitude prevails and you do not need to make a separate decision every time you order a meal.

Ida Jean Kain

One dieter, who, because of his traveling position, ate most of his meals in restaurants, used this method: Prior to sitting down to the table he would decide which he would enjoy most, the broiled fish, the meat course or chicken. From the menu he'd order the vegetables most suitable to the course. By this positive plan he didn't think in terms of diet, but of ordering to suit his taste, within a slimming pattern.

A "HAPPENING" convinced me of the logic of advance decision making. Some years back I was dietitian in charge of a Diet - Derby in which Walter Haight, racing columnist for the Washington Post, competed with 20 other reducers. The menus were always set in advance so the dieters knew just what they were to eat.

One day Elinor Lee, the Post's food editor, called to explain that Walter was to be a head table guest at a luncheon that noon. Since the meal was on the house, she suggested I change our dieter's inexpensive menu to somet[illegible] more festive. Elinor thoug[illegible] that Walter would be less than happy eating his cheese on rye while others dined on gourmet fare.

I called the chef and arranged for our dieter to be served practically the same menu as the other guests, but his was to be slimming style. The menu: Bouillon with celery hearts, broiled chicken quarter, fresh asparagus with grated Parmesan cheese, and cherry tomatoes with watercress. For dessert, honeydew melon and coffee. The calories totaled under 500, which was about the same count as his other menu.

I COULD scarcely wait to hear Walter's reaction. To my surprise, he was disappointed! "I had my mouth all set for that Swiss cheese on rye with dill pickle," our dieter explained forthrightly.

People who control their weight, apparently without too much effort, develop a built-in-slimming system. To give forethought means to bid your mind to subsequently respond. By so doing you take off the last minute pressure on your will power.

Proof of the plan: Walter Haight lost 20 pounds. When I talked with him recently he assured me that although he is admittedly still too heavy, he did not gain back the 20 pounds. He reminded me that I had threatened to haunt him if he regained the weight.

One to two tablespoons of cornstarch will thicken the syrup (plus water to make one cup) from a one-pound can of fruit. The amount of cornstarch you use will depend on how thick you want the sauce; also on how much sugar is added.

Now the chiefs seem willing to accept any light configuration to give the United States some sort of shield against intercontinental ballistic missiles.

"The important thing is to get started," the officer said.

Blocking a start, however, is Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's belief that even a thin defense would be wasteful. McNamara believes the best investment is in building enough offensive missiles to deter any enemy from ever launching an attack.

The chiefs disagree with what they feel is McNamara's one-sided approach.

"There is no such thing as a counterforce large enough to deny an enemy the capability of inflicting great damage on the United States," the general told his interviewer.

McNamara has indicated he might go along with a $3-billion to $5-billion antimissile system as a means of preserving the nation's offensive strength in case of attack.

Long-range rockets of such a system could intercept ICBM's as far as 400 miles out to provide what is known as area coverage for populated areas. Shorter range, superfast missiles would be deployed around Air Force Minutemen ICBM sites to protect U.S. offensive weapons.

Military officers believe McNamara would refuse to support anything beyond a thin defense. But this does not distress officers who believe the country eventually must have the $20-billion, 50-city system.

President Johnson has the final say in the matter, they state. And while McNamara's view is given considerable weight, the joint chiefs believe they also get a fair hearing from the chief executive.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the joint chiefs, has seen the President personally on the antimissile matter on more than one occasion in recent months.

The administration put $377 million in the fiscal 1968 budget to begin construction of Nike X components to match Soviet antimissiles being deployed around Moscow and possibly other Soviet population centers.

But the actual go-ahead order for building the U.S. system has been withheld while diplomats tried to get the Soviets to halt ABM work.

Threat Of Oil Shortage Growing In West Europe

NEW YORK (AP) — Western Europe faces a growing threat of an oil shortage as production remains curtailed in the troubled Middle East and tankers cannot use the Suez Canal.

The situation is not yet critical because Western Europe had a three-month supply of oil on hand or in transit when the war between Israel and the Arab nations broke out early this month.

An oil industry source here said although production of oil by Arab countries is less than half of normal, the biggest problem is a tanker shortage.

With the Suez Canal closed by vessels sunk during the brief war, tankers have to make the much longer trip around the southern tip of Africa.

J. Cordell Moore, assistant secretary of the interior, estimated this week that oil shipments from the Middle East to Europe are running less than 30 per cent of normal.

Britain is likely to feel the pinch more sharply than other European countries because the Arab nations have banned shipments to it. Britain normally gets about two-thirds of its crude oil from Arab countries.

Britain, the United States and West Germany were accused by the Arab countries of aiding Israel in the war.

Western Europe in 1966 consumed 8.5 million barrels of oil daily, about 80 per cent of it obtained from the Middle East and North Africa.

Production of oil has been resumed in Kuwait and Saudi Arabia, the biggest producers in the Middle East, since the end of hostilities. But because of unavailability of tankers Kuwait is producing only about 1 million barrels daily, down from a normal 2.4 million, and Saudi Arabia less than 2 million barrels daily, off from a normal 2.7 million.

The Iraq Petroleum Co. resumed exports from its Mediterranean terminal at Beirut, Lebanon, Wednesday. Deliveries were restricted to France and Turkey.

Libya, whose normal production of 1.4 million barrels daily went directly to Europe, continued to be shut down.

The Arab ban on oil shipments to the United States poses no supply problem for this country. Only 400,000 barrels of the normal U.S. daily consumption of 12 million barrels came from the Middle East.

It was estimated that the United States and Venezuela could increase their oil exports by 1.5 million barrels a day to replace Middle East supplies partially.

Texas and Louisiana already have increased their allowable production by 764,551 barrels a day.

The Interior Department approved Wednesday an emergency oil lift plan to help Europe. The plan drawn up by the government and 21 American oil companies with foreign operations must be acted on by the Justice Department and the Office of Emergency Planning.

It would permit the oil companies to cooperate in helping meet European oil needs without laying themselves open to antitrust prosecution.

The companies would be permitted to pool shipping facilities and, if necessary, increase production and divert supplies from this hemisphere.

Garbage littered sections of the riot-torn area. About midnight a garbage truck and a plow removed debris that had been scattered in the downtown area.

One of those injured, 15-year-old James Neal, was found lying in a doorway on East Ferry street. Neal, who was wounded by shotgun pellets in the back, said he was fired upon by two white men in a station wagon.

The smell of tear gas pervaded the area where a majority of this city's Negro population lives. The city's population is just under a half million and 13.3 per cent—about 66,000—of the total are Negroes.

The use of tear gas was viewed by some residents of the area as a brutal form of harassment.

"Man, it's that gas that makes you hate them," one young Negro commented.

Thursday night's violence came several hours after Mayor Frank A. Sedita appealed for calm at a meeting with nearly 200 young Negroes.

The youths complained to the mayor that one of the basic reasons for their unrest was that too few job opportunities were available to Negroes.

Collecting Snakes Money-Paying Hobby

ELGIN, Ill. (AP) — Roy Memmin is in a business where there is no room for mistakes.

He has been collecting snakes for 42 years. He has supplied many zoos throughout the U.S. with reptiles he's caught.

"It's a nonpaying hobby," Memmin said. "I get $11 a snake for rattlers five feet and over — delivered. I sold 14 to Brookfield Zoo last year, but this year they're full up already."

He hunts snakes in Arizona's deserts, Oklahoma's hills and northwestern Illinois' hilly country around Galena.

He's only been bitten once, he said. That was in 1950 near Baraboo, Wis., and was hospitalized three days.

"Then I waited a day more, and went back to look for the one that bit me, but he'd cleared out," he said.

"The plane was coming in for a landing. It was foggy and raining but everything seemed normal to me. Suddenly I saw the wings were going to hit the water.

"Everyone started screaming and madly rushing for the doors.

"By the time I got to the door, the plane had settled deep into the water and my head was underwater.

Australians Set Super Pub Crawl

SYDNEY (AP) — A "pub crawl" in Australia means starting at one end of a city street (preferably the longest) and traversing it to the other, calling at every hotel on the way for one glass of beer. This can be money and time consuming.

An even more time and money consuming pub crawl is being organized by a group of 30 Australian publicans who plan what they describe as the world's longest pub crawl — 25,000 miles through more than 20 countries.

It is officially described as a "study tour" and will cost each participant $2,000 (U.S. $2240).

The organizers are a hotel keeper of Adelaide, South Australia and a travel agent.

Flanagan says: "The party intends to study beer, hotels, bars, nighteries and clubs in among other countries, Thailand, Italy, Germany, Austria, Scandinavia, Britain, France, Switzerland, Hong Kong and Singapore.

The pub crawl will begin in September and will reach Munich in time for the celebrated Oktoberfest.

Statistics show Australians are only second highest in consumption of beer. — but they try harder.

CBS said it found "that most objections to the report — and certainly all objections that go to the heart of the report—vanish when they are exposed to the light of honest inquiry."

The network said its own tests significantly weaken a major contention of the critics — that Oswald couldn't have fired the Mannlicher-Carcano rifle fast enough to get off three shots within 5.6 seconds. The commission had concluded on the basis of an amateur motion picture of the assassination that this was the time span.

CBS said it demonstrated that three shots could be fired from such a rifle at a moving target within that time span.

An analysis of the film also suggests, CBS said, that the shot Texas Gov. John Connally said he heard was the first shot — and it missed. If this was the case, Oswald had additional time to fire the rifle.

Concerning the New Orleans investigation William Gurvich, who resigned this week as Garrison's chief aide, said on CBS' Tuesday program that Garrison used "illegal and unethical" methods to build his case.

Gurvich appeared the next night before an Orleans Parish grand jury investigating the Kennedy assassination.

Garrison contends that retired New Orleans businessman Clay Shaw conspired with Oswald, Jack Ruby and David Ferrie — all of whom are now dead — to kill the President. The grand jury indicted Shaw for conspiracy.

Gurvich said Shaw, whom Garrison claims is known also as Clay Bertrand, should never have been arrested.

NBC said in its report that it discovered there is a real Clay Bertrand in New Orleans, but said it is not Shaw.

Contracts Let For Cabinets

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners awarded contracts Thursday for two filing cabinets for Probate Court, one for the sheriff's office at the Courthouse and a typewriter for the County Jail.

The Meek Stationery Co. of East Palestine received the Probate Court order for $249.50, lowest of four proposals. Youngstown Office Supply submitted a low bid of $93.38 for the sheriff's file and Fithian Typewriter Sales & Service of Salem will furnish a Royal standard manual typewriter for $202.50 less $20 trade-in on an old machine.

Memorial Day expenses totaling $502.20 were approved for 11 East Liverpool area organizations — VFW Post 66, American Legion Posts 4 and 374, 40 & 8 Post 273, Gold Star Mothers, Navy Mothers, Pfc. John R. Fox Marine Auxiliary, World War I Barracks 8, Disabled American Veterans Post 47, McCoy Circle 33 of Ladies of the Grand Army and Glenmoor American Legion Post 736.

The county paid Wellsville $25.50 for 51 stray dogs destroyed during June, while East Liverpool received $10 for disposing of 20.

Commissioners approved estimated expenses of $75 for V. C. Judge, county treasurer, to attend a summer conference of the State Association of County Treasurers July 11-13 at Toledo.

Sen. Clark Reported Seeking Third Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., was reported today to have told President Johnson that he plans to run for a third term.

The Philadelphia Bulletin, in a dispatch from its Washington bureau, said Clark reportedly made his decision known to the President two weeks ago at a meeting of Democrats in the White House.

The President, according to the newspaper, is said to have replied that he was happy to hear about it.

The Bulletin quoted White House sources as reporting that the President told the meeting:

"Clark is going to win in Pennsylvania and is going to help me carry that state."

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Tip For Restaurant Diners

"Will you please give slimming tips for restaurant diners?" a career woman asks.

For anyone who eats out often, it is a good plan to order the main course rather than the complete dinner. Weight control is 90 percent attitude. When you desire to slim down that attitude prevails and you do not need to make a separate decision every time you order a meal.

Ida Jean Kain

One dieter, who, because of his traveling position, ate most of his meals in restaurants, used this method: Prior to sitting down to the table he would decide which he would enjoy most, the broiled fish, the meat course or chicken. From the menu he'd order the vegetables most suitable to the course. By this positive plan he didn't think in terms of diet, but of ordering to suit his taste, within a slimming pattern.

A "HAPPENING" convinced me of the logic of advance decision making. Some years back I was dietitian in charge of a Diet - Derby in which Walter Haight, racing columnist for the Washington Post, competed with 20 other reducers. The menus were always set in advance so the dieters knew just what they were to eat.

One day Elinor Lee, the Post's food editor, called to explain that Walter was to be a head table guest at a luncheon that noon. Since the meal was on the house, she suggested I change our dieter's inexpensive menu to something more festive. Elinor thought that Walter would be less than happy eating his cheese on rye while others dined on gourmet fare.

I called the chef and arranged for our dieter to be served practically the same menu as the other guests, but his was to be slimming style. The menu: Bouillon with celery hearts, broiled chicken quarter, fresh asparagus with grated Parmesan cheese, and cherry tomatoes with watercress. For dessert, honeydew melon and coffee. The calories totaled under 500, which was about the same count as his other menu.

I COULD scarcely wait to hear Walter's reaction. To my surprise, he was disappointed! "I had my mouth all set for that Swiss cheese on rye with dill pickle," our dieter explained forthrightly.

People who control their weight, apparently without too much effort, develop a built-in-slimming system. To give forethought means to bid your mind to subsequently respond. By so doing you take off the last minute pressure on your will power.

Proof of the plan: Walter Haight lost 20 pounds. When I talked with him recently he assured me that although he is admittedly still too heavy, he did not gain back the 20 pounds. He reminded me that I had threatened to haunt him if he regained the weight.

One to two tablespoons of cornstarch will thicken the syrup (plus water to make one cup) from a one-pound can of fruit. The amount of cornstarch you use will depend on how thick you want the sauce; also on how much sugar is added.

Congress Off On Its Third Recess Of '67

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is off today on its third formal recess of the year, leaving the Capitol empty except for the usual hordes of tourists — and a massive backlog of unfinished work.

When Congress reassembles after a 10-day July 4th vacation, it will face enough problems to keep it busy for several months — and the likelihood of attempts to sidetrack some controversial issues until the next session beginning in January.

Among unfinished business is legislation dealing with rioting, Social Security, a possible railroad strike, poverty, crime, education, civil rights, foreign aid, appropriations, congressional redistricting, election law reforms and possibly taxes.

Some of them are well along on the road to final action. Others haven't even taken their first legislative step.

Action has been completed on a new military draft law, extension of the Teachers Corps and some other higher education programs, a $12.2-billion emergency appropriation to finance the Vietnam war and Senate ratification of the Soviet consular and outer space treaties.

Two nonlegislative acts, one in each branch, highlighted the first six months of the session.

The Senate censured Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., for converting campaign funds to his personal use. The House refused to seat Adam Clayton Powell, a Harlem Democrat, after a special committee accused him of misusing public funds.

As usual, party leaders in the House, where most of the action has been to date, disagreed on the showing of Congress.

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said, "We have made a number of excellent accomplishments" and "a lot of important bills will be acted upon in the next few months."

Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan took a different view.

He credited "the few constructive things that were done" to heavy GOP House gains in last year's elections.

Congress, Ford added, "has churned about like a rudderless ship."

Democrats outnumber Republicans in the House 247 to 186 despite a GOP gain of 47 seats last November.

Legislatively the House was ahead of the Senate when the latest recess started.

It has passed 11 appropriation bills totaling $126.8 billion. The Senate has acted on only four of them involving $23.4 billion. Five more money bills have not started through Congress. They call for another $15 billion.

Major House-passed bills awaiting Senate action deal with federal aid for elementary and secondary education and revision of the copyright laws. The House has not acted on a Senate-passed congressional reorganization measure.

Both branches have passed bills on veterans' benefits, congressional redistricting, the threatened railroad strike and extension of the food stamp program to help feed needy families. All are in conference awaiting compromise recommendations.

Congress isn't likely to plow through all the remaining major measures this year unless it stays in session until the snow falls. Leaders are shooting for final adjournment by mid-October.

Bills not acted on this year keep their position on the legislative treadmill and will be there when the 1968 session convenes.

Hays Says Some Cables 'Didn't Get To The Top'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some cables a U.S. official reportedly sent the State Department warning of the nearness of war in the Middle East "didn't get to the top," says Rep. Wayne L. Hays.

Hays, an Ohio Democrat and chairman of a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, made his statement after meeting privately for two hours Thursday with David G. Nes, U.S. charge d'affaires in Cairo.

Nes was quoted immediately after the war's outbreak as saying U.S. officials in Washington failed to heed his warnings that an Israeli-Arab conflict was imminent..

Hays said he thought Nes "gave a very accurate assessment of the situation at that time."

And Hays added: "We don't know what happened to Nes's cables. But I think it is a fair assumption to say that this is not the end of it."

Motions Filed In Noise Case

Two defense motions were filed Thursday in Municipal Court in the case of an East End food market operator accused of violating the city's so-called "anti-noise" ordinance.

Glenn Thorne, operator of Thorne's Valu-King store at 1616 Pennsylvania Ave., asked a bill of particulars detailing the exact time and place of the alleged offense and specific data on the type, intensity and duration of the noise he is accused of creating.

In another motion, Thorne asked Judge Samuel M. Chertoff to dismiss the warrant and affidavit against him on three grounds. His motion alleged: "The ordinance is unconstitutional, the affidavit is defective" and "other errors appear on the affidavit and warrant to arrest."

The motions were filed on Thorne's behalf by his counsel, Richard D. Kennedy of Lisbon.

The case has been set for a hearing next Thursday. The affidavit was signed by seven residents of the East End area alleging they were disturbed by the sounds of compressors, fans and other machinery in the rear of the store. Jackman Vodrey represents the complainants.

The affidavit alleges that Thorne "has created an unreasonably loud, disturbing noise of such character, intensity and duration as to be detrimental to the health of the citizens." It was signed by Frank P. Duffy, councilman - at - large, Mary Howell, Angeline Frank, Myrtle Goddard, Paul A. Burson, William G. Howell and Adolfo Frank.

New officers were seated and committee chairmen named when the Midland Rotary Club met Thursday night at the club pavilion of Murphy Hill Rd.

Leo Curto, new president, received the gavel from Ernie Dostalik, retiring president. Curto presented Dostalik a past president's pin.

Committee chairmen appointed by Curto were Lester Smith Jr., club service; James Ferretjans, attendance; David Schwerha, membership and classification; Charles Smith, bulletin and public relations.

Homer Paul, scholarship; Dostalik, program; Fred Wilton, Rotary information; James Migliore, sergeant - at - arms; Raymond Stowitzky, vocational service; Dr. Frank Benedict, community service.

Dr. James Swinker, international service; Dr. Thomas Bonfiglio, finance; C. Lloyd Deffenbaugh, music, and Sal Glorioso, crippled children.

Another Meeting Slated On St. Clair Water Plan

LISBON — A public meeting called to hear objections to assessments for the proposed St. Clair Township water project will be continued at 10 a. m. Friday, July 14, in Common Pleas Court.

Columbiana County commissioners adjourned Thursday's meeting in Courtroom 2 after 3 hours, 45 minutes of discussion. Approximately 60 of the 80 persons who reported at 10 a. m. were still present when James W. Boyd, president of the commissioners, adjourned the session at 2:45.

Alfred Fitch, Salem attorney who represented 367 petitioners against the $3-per-front-foot assessment, suggested the adjournment as a way around the statutory five-day limit for filing written objections with the county commissioners or requesting the commissioners to reduce assessments.

Boyd said residents of the water district in Calcutta, Glenmoor and Gaston Pl. may arrange for assessment hearings before July 14 by calling the commissioners' office at the Courthouse. He said the commissioners meet at 10 a.m. Mondays and Thursdays, but will meet more often if necessary to hear all who claim hardship. The commissioners have the power to reduce assessments in such cases.

Nine district residents signed for assessment hearings after the meeting ended.

Fitch suggested that the commissioners use the next two weeks to renegotiate with East Liverpool the rate it will charge for city water and to consider increasing county participation in the cost from approximately 25 per cent to 35 or 40 per cent.

The project cost has been estimated at from $620,000 to $632,000, "but any figure is just a guess until bids are received," according to George S. Bloomgren, East Liverpool engineer who prepared the plans.

County commissioners have obtained a $240,000 federal grant, plan to raise $240,000 through assessments on property owners and issue revenue bonds for $152,000.

Fitch said the assessment is so high "as to constitute a financial crisis in many families who want to live and garden in semi-rural areas."

Boyd gave everyone an opportunity to speak. Many asked questions of Bloomgren and the commissioners.

Fitch noted that five spoke in favor of the proposed water system while many spoke against it and 367 signed the petition opposing the assessment and asking the commissioners to delay action until they can clearly define the cost.

He added, "In order to satisfy your constituents and do a statesmanlike job, I believe the commissioners have the obligation to take another look at the program and revise the costs and try and get water at more reasonable rates."

Several of the visitors said they own big lots for gardening and can't see why they should have to pay the same assessment per foot as people with small lots or commercial properties.

The consensus seemed to be that the charge East Liverpool has set for delivering water to the two standpipes to be constructed is excessive and would make St. Clair district users pay approximately 150 per cent of what the city residents pay.

Several speakers suggested the city wants to annex the area to be served and is using the water rate as a lever.

Some opponents suggested that the commissioners and Bloomgren look into the feasibility of getting water from other sources. Well fields and a reservoir were suggested.

Some said the sewerage system which is proposed after the water system is in should have come first because of the danger of septic tanks contaminating individual wells.

Several people said there is no shortage of water in the proposed district. Art Coplin of Martha St. said he is sure "a house-to-house survey of the area would show that 90 per cent of the people want nothing to do with your fantastic waterworks."

Dave Rowlinson of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, Cleveland legal firm, who has been working with the commissioners on setting up the financing, told the visitors the 3 per foot assessment is low. He also said very few Ohio communities — perhaps 10 — have been able to obtain federal grants for water systems.

President's 'Hard-Driving' Campaign Slightly Altered

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson is beginning to act again like the hard-driving campaigner of 1964-but with a difference. He isn't giving much advance notice of his travels.

This naturally has a decided effect on the kind of reception he's been getting. Big crowds, the kind politicians seek when in the middle of a real campaign, don't turn out unless there is advance publicity.

Johnson was greeted by a few thousand people in Philadelphia Thursday when he went there, en route to his Texas ranch, to tour some antipoverty facilities. Had there been a campaign-style buildup of advance publicity, the number might have been in the tens of thousands.

But the President did not permit a public announcement of his Philadelphia trip until he was on his way. Since the flying time between Washington and the City of Brotherly Love is less than 30 minutes, it perhaps is remarkable that anyone turned out in the Negro slum area he visited.

Security considerations reportedly bulked large in the White House decision to avoid advance publicity. In addition, the President is known to prefer to keep his schedule very flexible. This allows him to back out on tentatively planned forays at the last minute, if he deems that wise, without being accused of changing his mind.

But that policy raises the question of whether Johnson intends to mount an election campaign in 1968 minus the kind of advance tub-thumping that turns out big crowds.

That Johnson at this point is poised to seek re-election seems plain enough. In other appearances within the past week, in Los Angeles and Baltimore, he stopped just short of announcing his candidacy while delivering campaign-style orations.

Official announcements of the Los Angeles and Baltimore trips also were withheld almost until the last moment. When White House newsmen were told Tuesday about the Baltimore appearance, they were informed simultaneously their bus would be leaving for Baltimore in 15 minutes.

Another possible Johnson trip is in the offing for Saturday. After several days of rumors, press secretary George Christian acknowledged Thursday that the President has been invited to address a one-day conference of Democratic governors in St. Louis. Christian said the bid was under consideration.

After flying here Thursday afternoon, the Johnsons attended funeral services for 83-year-old Huffman Baines, an uncle of the President who died Monday. Then they proceeded to their LBJ Ranch, some 75 miles northwest, for a July 4th holiday stay.

Spending the night with them at the ranch was their 9-day-old grandson, Patrick Lyndon Nugent, and his parents, Patrick J. and Luci Nugent.

Luci, 19, looked as svelte as ever following her confinement.

The 1963 car driven by Ruth Dawson, 51, of Post Office Box 43, Hookstown, scraped a 1957 model incinerator department truck operated by Richard O. Watson, 32, of 673 St. Clair Ave., officers said.

Watson told police he was parked on W. 4th to pick up garbage when he heard the sound of a collision. The woman said she was proceeding east on W. 4th when her right rear fender scraped on the truck. The city truck was not damaged, police said. Patrolman Charles A. Winters investigated.

Motorcyclist Hurt As Vehicle Wrecks

New Serious Effort Set On Reapportion Question

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio legislators will launch another serious effort next week to come up with a plan to settle the question of House and Senate districts once and for all.

Sen. Robin T. Turner R-14 Marion, chairman of the Senate Elections, Commerce, and Labor Committee, said hearings are scheduled for next Thursday on two plans pending in the upper chamber.

The general assembly doesn't return next week until Wednesday because of an extended July 4 holiday. There will be working sessions on Friday to help make up part of the lost time.

Before weekend adjournment Thursday, both houses passed a series of more or less routine bills. Leaders signed and sent to the governor the $4.9 billion appropriations bill to run the state for two years starting Saturday. The fiscal biennium ends at midnight tonight.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray R-3 Miami disclosed plans for the new attempt at apportionment, which has plagued the lawmakers since 1964. The assembly has submitted two plans to voters only to have them defeated.

"It's getting late in the session and this is a problem that has to be solved," Gray said. He and Senate Whip Michael J. Maloney R-7 Cincinnati are co-sponsors of one of the pending proposals.

Gray and Maloney propose in their resolution to use the present plan until the 1972 elections. Prior to that time, the State Apportionment Board — consisting of the governor, auditor, and secretary of state— would create new House and Senate districts.

The 1972 apportionment would create a 117-member House and a 39-member Senate.

In addition, Gray and Maloney propose in their resolution — which would require a vote of the people in the November election — to give the Ohio Supreme Court original jurisdiction over apportionment.

The other resolution to be heard by Turner's committee was introduced under bipartisan sponsorship of Sen. Stanley Aronoff R-8 Cincinnati, Sen. William B. Nye D-28 Akron and others.

It would retain the present system except for expansion of the State Apportionment Board and assure minority party representation on the board.

In a flurry of activity at Thursday floor sessions, the House passed a bill aimed at "making fathers support their children" while the Senate voted to permit counties and cities to help metropolitan park districts.

Representatives approved by an 84-0 vote the measure by Rep. James Thorpe R-90 Alliance authorizing common pleas courts to establish a bureau for enforcement of support and alimony payments.

He said the measure resulted from a program established by Judge James McCrystal of Erie County, where child support payments jumped 52 per cent in one year.

Sen. Ralph Regular R-29 Navarre, Stark, and Nye sponsored the bill which will permit Stark County and other counties and municipalities to make cash grants and provide office space for metropolitan park boards.

Plans Made For Emergency Mass Feeding Organization

Plans for a countyside disaster food service were outlined by women representing churches and the Civil Defense Thursday night at the Area Red Cross Chapter offices at Mary Patterson Memorial.

The program would be directed by a committee which could be called upon in any disaster to help feed victims and rescue workers.

Plans call for expansion of the committee — in event of a disaster of duration — through church representatives recruiting members from their respective congregations.

As proposed, the program would provide immediate service for any district of the city or town under the supervision of committee members in that particular district.

Training plans were discussed. Since some church representatives were unable to attend, further plans for training in mass feeding will be held at a meeting Sept. 25.

Representatives at the session were Mrs. Carol Dawson, Second U.P. Church; Mrs. Delores Brown, St. Aloysius Church; Miss Olive E. Smith, Second Church of Christ; Mrs. Stanley Rose, Trinity Church; Mrs. Gloria White, Long's Run Presbyterian Church; Mrs. Ethel Richman, 1st U.P. Church; Mrs. Beulah Franklin, First Church of Christ; Mrs. Phyllis Mercer, First Baptist Church; Mrs. Florence Gloeckner, St. Ann's Church; Miss Jane Smith and Mrs. Josephine Armstrong, Civil Defense; and Mrs. Luella Myers and Mrs. Grace Smith, co-chairman of the Area Red Cross Chapter's Food Service Committee.

Ky Drops Out Of Viet Race For President

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, who has led South Vietnam's military government for two years, withdrew from the race for the presidency today to seek the No. 2 spot on a ticket headed by Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu.

The decision came after three days of tense meetings of the powerful Armed Forces Council during which the competition between Ky and Thieu, who both had been running for the presidency, reached a climax.

Ky has gone from being the No. 1 presidential candidate to No. 2 man on someone else's ticket, making it apparent he lost a great deal of power in the last three days.

Thieu, on the other hand, has now gained the top spot. The fact that he and Ky will no longer be competing for the 600,000 votes of the armed forces makes him virtually unbeatable.

The Thieu-Ky combination also eliminates the possibility that their competition would split the military, a fear the United States has been expressing since Ky and Thieu both decided to run for president.

The Thieu-Ky ticket was expected to register by midnight tonight, the registration deadline.

Reports said the Armed Forces Council had heated discussions of the Ky and Theiu candidacies. Sources said the council had decided to name a caretaker government to run South Vietnam while Ky and Thieu campaigned.

But now that the two men are on the same ticket, it was not clear if there would still be a caretaker government. The decision to run together came after the decision to form a caretaker government.

To add to the confusion, former Premier Duong Van Minh now in exile in Thailand, registered today for the Sept. 3 presidential election. Minh, a major general who ran South Vietnam for several months after the downfall of Ngo Dinh Diem in late 1963, was made ambassador at large in 1964 after other generals turned him out of office.

Major Task—Budget—Still Uncompleted

Pennsylvania Legislature Begins Extended Recess

HARRISBURG (AP) — The General Assembly began an extended Fourth of July holiday recess today with its major task—approval of a budget for fiscal 1967-68—still uncompleted.

The House and Senate adjourned until July 10 following late night and early morning sessions during which a handful of legislation was passed by the House.

The House, meeting at 11 p.m. Thursday night, gave unanimous passage to $346,563 in appropriations which Gov. Shafer wanted on his desk before the start of the fiscal year.

Then, meeting again at 12:01 a.m., the House approved a bill renewing Pennsylvania's membership in the Delaware Valley Urban Area Compact. The vote was 175-24.

There actually were only 34 House members on the floor, but by mutual agreement absentees were recorded as voting.

The Senate had passed both the appropriations and the compact earlier in the week, but the body had to convene to allow its presiding officer to sign the legislation.

Much remained undone, however, as the lawmakers left the capital city. Neither house had taken action on the budget or the governor's $267 million tax program.

Of course, the two were linked closely together with House Democrats refusing to vote for taxes unless the administration justified its revenue needs to to their satisfaction.

Shafer was forced to sign $244.6 million in stop-gap appropriations Thursday to finance governmental operations for a maximum two months or until the budget is adopted.

The governor said that beginning on Saturday, the first day of the new fiscal year, the state will lose $2.7 million a week in revenue which would have been realized had his tax program passed in time.

"It is imperative that the General Assembly agree as quickly as possible on the amount of spending and the amount of taxes," Shafer said.

"I have presented to the General Assembly a lean budget, together with a reasonable program of taxation to meet these needs. I am hopeful that following the July 4 recess, agreement can soon be reached."

But House Democrats continued to insist that cuts could be made in the budget. Representatives of both parties planned to meet next week in an effort to resolve their differences.

Before adjournment, the House also gave unanimous approval to a bill that would increase the penalty for desecration of the American flag. The measure was sent to the Senate.

The House also passed legislation that would clear the way for the state to lease a portion of the Quehanna tract in Clearfield County for industrial purposes. The package of two bills, approved earlier by the Senate was returned to that body for concurrence in amendments.

New Serious Effort Set On Reapportion Question

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio legislators will launch another serious effort next week to come up with a plan to settle the question of House and Senate districts once and for all.

Sen. Robin T. Turner R-14 Marion, chairman of the Senate Elections, Commerce, and Labor Committee, said hearings are scheduled for next Thursday on two plans pending in the upper chamber.

Ky Drops Out Of Viet Race For President

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, who has led South Vietnam's military government for two years, withdrew from the race for the presidency today to seek the No. 2 spot on a ticket headed by Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu.

The decision came after three days of tense meetings of the powerful Armed Forces Council during which the competition between Ky and Thieu, who both had been running for the presidency, reached a climax.

Ky has gone from being the No. 1 presidential candidate to No. 2 man on someone else's ticket, making it apparent he lost a great deal of power in the last three days.

Thieu, on the other hand, has now gained the top spot. The fact that he and Ky will no longer be competing for the 600,000 votes of the armed forces makes him virtually unbeatable.

The Thieu-Ky combination also eliminates the possibility that their competition would split the military, a fear the United States has been expressing since Ky and Thieu both decided to run for president.

The Thieu-Ky ticket was expected to register by midnight tonight, the registration deadline.

Reports said the Armed Forces Council had heated discussions of the Ky and Theiu candidacies. Sources said the council had decided to name a caretaker government to run South Vietnam while Ky and Thieu campaigned.

But now that the two men are on the same ticket, it was not clear if there would still be a caretaker government. The decision to run together came after the decision to form a caretaker government.

To add to the confusion, former Premier Duong Van Minh now in exile in Thailand, registered today for the Sept. 3 presidential election. Minh, a major general who ran South Vietnam for several months after the downfall of Ngo Dinh Diem in late 1963, was made ambassador at large in 1964 after other generals turned him out of office.

Major Task—Budget—Still Uncompleted

Pennsylvania Legislature Begins Extended Recess

HARRISBURG (AP) — The General Assembly began an extended Fourth of July holiday recess today with its major task—approval of a budget for fiscal 1967-68—still uncompleted.

The House and Senate adjourned until July 10 following late night and early morning sessions during which a handful of lesgislation was passed by the House.

The House, meeting at 11 p.m. Thursday night, gave unanimous passage to $346,563 in appropriations which Gov. Shafer wanted on his desk before the start of the fiscal year.

Then, meeting again at 12:01 a.m., the House approved a bill renewing Pennsylvania's membership in the Delaware Valley Urban Area Compact. The vote was 175-24.

There actually were only 34 House members on the floor, but by mutual agreement absentees were recorded as voting.

The Senate had passed both the appropriations and the compact earlier in the week, but the body had to convene to allow its presiding officer to sign the legislation.

Much remained undone, however, as the lawmakers left the capital city. Neither house had taken action on the budget or the governor's $267 million tax program.

Of course, the two were linked closely together with House Democrats refusing to vote for taxes unless the administration justified its revenue needs to to their satisfaction.

Shafer was forced to sign $244.6 million in stop-gap appropriations Thursday to finance governmental operations for a maximum two months or until the budget is adopted.

The governor said that beginning on Saturday, the first day of the new fiscal year, the state will lose $2.7 million a week in revenue which would have been realized had his tax program passed in time.

"It is imperative that the General Assembly agree as quickly as possible on the amount of spending and the amount of taxes," Shafer said.

"I have presented to the General Assembly a lean budget, together with a reasonable program of taxation to meet these needs. I am hopeful that following the July 4 recess, agreement can soon be reached."

But House Democrats continued to insist that cuts could be made in the budget. Representatives of both parties planned to meet next week in an effort to resolve their differences.

Before adjournment, the House also gave unanimous approval to a bill that would increase the penalty for desecration of the American flag. The measure was sent to the Senate.

The House also passed legislation that would clear the way for the state to lease a portion of the Quehanna tract in Clearfield County for industrial purposes. The package of two bills, approved earlier by the Senate was returned to that body for concurrence in amendments.

FALLACY:
Transparency is one of the most important factors in the rating of all gems.

FACT:
Transparency is important in many gemstones . . . along with brilliance, color and fire. But the desired qualities vary in different gems. In some, for instance the jade and the lapis lazuli, transparency is not a factor at all. In others it is essential.

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Ramirez, 19, drove to the courthouse Thursday to fight a traffic ticket.

As the case was about to be called he realized his parking meter was running out. He asked the judge for time.

Granted. Joe raced out and started across the street when a policeman grabbed him for jaywalking. He gave Joe a ticket and a long, long lecture.

So long was the lecture that a meter maid got to his car before Joe did. She gave him a ticket and ignored his plea.

When he got back to court the judge had gone to lunch. Joe fed the meter diligently until his honor returned.

"With my luck I knew the verdict before the judge pronounced it— 'Guilty. $5 or one day in jail,'" Joe said.

Joe went to pay the fine and found only $2 in his wallet. The clerk let him go on his promise to pay.

When Joe got home to Jericho, Long Island, he found a letter.

"Greetings," it said, report for induction in the U.S. Army July 20.

After giving a peck to the Blarney Stone, the Kansas-born Slattery flew here from Ireland Thursday.

He started gabbing on the plane. "He wouldn't stop," said a dazed airline stewardess. "He just went on and on and on."

Are you a good listener?

"Ordinarily I am. That's why I am such a good talker."

Slattery is after a record of 5 days and 13 hours held by another Irishman, Vincent Sheehan of Limerick. He gets two hours a day to sleep, three 25-minute breaks to eat plus 10 minutes off each hour.

Wellsville Historical Society Discusses Various Matters

The Wellsville Historical Society has not asked the state to include the River Museum as part of the property to be taken with the proposed relocation of Route 7, members were informed when the group met Thursday night.

Edgar Davidson, also a member of the Carnegie Library Board, said the group mentioned the possibility of the state's taking the museum since the present right-of-way would leave the museum isolated.

Joseph Hall, secretary of the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce, asked the society's cooperation in completing a questionnaire supplied by the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The government is seeking information about the country's museums, Hall explained.

Ed Pugh of Lakewood, Fla., a society member, was appointed chairman of a committee to assemble the desired information.

Payment of dues will be on a calendar year basis, to come due each January on a schedule adopted last June, members were told.

Publication of Wellsville Echoes, the society newsletter, will be reactivated. Assisting Mrs. Rhea Nile will be Jimmy Kelley and Delmar T. O'Hara. Echoes will be published quarterly.

Mrs. W. R. Pugh was made an honorary life member because of her "devoted service to the museum."

Davidson was asked to obtain information relative to the microfilming of newspapers held by the society which date back to the years 1849-1863.

Members agreed that admission contributions are necessary for the museum's upkeep. It was understood that those visiting the River Museum should make some donation.

One adult must accompany each 10 children who visit.

The next meeting will be July 27 in the Newbold Room of the museum.

Mrs. Rhea Nile presided.

Corporal, Sergeant Wed In Service At Hookstown

Lance Cpl. Mary Dee Septer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil S. Septer of Hookstown, became the bride of Sgt. Robert John Szeluga, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Szeluga of Deer Park, Long Island, June 17 at 2:30 p.m. in the United Presbyterian Church of Hookstown.

The Rev. Alexander Wilson officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar background of white gladioli and carnations and two seven-branch candelabra.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of silk organze over taffeta, with long pointed sleeves and a scoop neck. The empire line of the gown was accented by a band with two small bows in front. The bodice and skirt has appliques of "rose point" lace re-embroidered with sprays of seed pearls. The A-line skirt swept to the back to form a chapel-length train.

Her cathedral veil of imported silk illusion was held in place by a queen's crown of pearls and crystals. She carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of white carnations centered with a corsage of white roses. The Bible was the same one carried by her mother and sister at their weddings.

Mrs. Paul Rogish of Baden, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. Lance Cpl. Roberta Haines of Cherry Point, N. C., was her bridesmaid. Miss Kathleen Frasier of Hookstown was her junior bridesmaid.

They appeared in floor-length gowns of pastel shades, pink, blue and orchid. Their headpieces were bands of carnations and white roses. They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations and white roses sprinkled with silver glitter.

Stephen Septer, brother of the bride, served as best man. Ushers were Kenneth Scott of Georgetown and David Barclay of Aliquippa.

Immediately following the ceremony, a closed reception was held in the Hookstown Grange Hall. Guests were from Hookstown, Georgetown, Pittsburgh, Canton, Massillon, Toledo, Buffalo and Long Island.

Aides were Mrs. Howard Narry, Mrs. Charles Rhinestine and Mrs. Dorothea Brooks. Mrs. Millard Dawson of Hookstown arranged the decorations.

The newlyweds will reside at Cherry Point, where they are both stationed in the provost marshal's office.

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Ramirez, 19, drove to the courthouse Thursday to fight a traffic ticket.

As the case was about to be called he realized his parking meter was running out. He asked the judge for time.

Granted. Joe raced out and started across the street when a policeman grabbed him for jaywalking. He gave Joe a ticket and a long, long lecture.

So long was the lecture that a meter maid got to his car before Joe did. She gave him a ticket and ignored his plea.

When he got back to court the judge had gone to lunch. Joe fed the meter diligently until his honor returned.

"With my luck I knew the verdict before the judge pronounced it— 'Guilty. $5 or one day in jail,'" Joe said.

Joe went to pay the fine and found only $2 in his wallet. The clerk let him go on his promise to pay.

When Joe got home to Jericho, Long Island, he found a letter.

"Greetings," it said, report for induction in the U.S. Army July 20.

After giving a peck to the Blarney Stone, the Kansas-born Slattery flew here from Ireland Thursday.

He started gabbing on the plane. "He wouldn't stop," said a dazed airline stewardess. "He just went on and on and on."

Are you a good listener?

"Ordinarily I am. That's why I am such a good talker."

Slattery is after a record of 5 days and 13 hours held by another Irishman, Vincent Sheehan of Limerick. He gets two hours a day to sleep, three 25-minute breaks to eat plus 10 minutes off each hour.

Wellsville Historical Society Discusses Various Matters

The Wellsville Historical Society has not asked the state to include the River Museum as part of the property to be taken with the proposed relocation of Route 7, members were informed when the group met Thursday night.

Edgar Davidson, also a member of the Carnegie Library Board, said the group mentioned the possibility of the state's taking the museum since the present right-of-way would leave the museum isolated.

Joseph Hall, secretary of the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce, asked the society's cooperation in completing a questionnaire supplied by the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The government is seeking information about the country's museums, Hall explained.

Ed Pugh of Lakewood, Fla., a society member, was appointed chairman of a committee to assemble the desired information.

Payment of dues will be on a calendar year basis, to come due each January on a schedule adopted last June, members were told.

Publication of Wellsville Echoes, the society newsletter, will be reactivated. Assisting Mrs. Rhea Nile will be Jimmy Kelley and Delmar T. O'Hara. Echoes will be published quarterly.

Mrs. W. R. Pugh was made an honorary life member because of her "devoted service to the museum."

Davidson was asked to obtain information relative to the microfilming of newspapers held by the society which date back to the years 1849-1863.

Members agreed that admission contributions are necessary for the museum's upkeep. It was understood that those visiting the River Museum should make some donation.

One adult must accompany each 10 children who visit.

The next meeting will be July 27 in the Newbold Room of the museum.

Mrs. Rhea Nile presided.

Girl, 4, Escapes Serious Injuries In Lisbon Mishap

LISBON — Janine Ashton, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Chic) Ashton of 228 S. Lincoln Ave., escaped serious injury at 2:45 p. m. Thursday when she ran into the side of a panel truck in front of her home.

Chief of Police Leon T. Zahrndt said Thomas A. Hess, 39, of Leetonia R. D. 2 told him he did not see the child until he heard something hit the side of the truck and looked in the rear view mirror and saw her rolling.

The accident happened in view of a neighbor girl who was babysitting while the Ashtons were away from home. Mrs. Marjorie Winters, a neighbor, took Janine to Salem City Hospital for X-rays and treatment of abrasions.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashton arrived home shortly after the mishap and brought Janine home from the hospital.

They said witnesses told them Janine walked into the street from behind a parked car as she crossed from the west side of Lincoln Ave. (Route 164) to her home on the east side. The truck was northbound.

A 14-foot-high state route marker on W. Lincoln Way, a block west of the Square, was knocked down by a backing truck at 1:10 p.m. yesterday.

Sheriff Promises Help In Meeting At Newell

Hancock County Sheriff Joe Rodak, in a meeting with eight Newell women Thursday afternoon, promised to look into the legal aspects of several requests by the group and to contact other county and state authorities in an effort to get permanent repairs to the 900 block of Grant St.

The 90 - minute session came about following a demonstration by Grant St. residents Tuesday afternoon and evening protesting potholes that lined the thoroughfare. State Road Commission crews filled the holes Wednesday, but the women are seeking a paving job in addition.

The women, according to their spokesman, Mrs. Ruth Smith, seek several actions in addition to the street paving.

They have asked that playground signs be erected in the area of Clark Field and speed limit signs, which reportedly have been torn down, replaced in the vicinity of Wells Junior High School.

Rodak said he is not only interested in Newell, but also the surrounding Hancock County area. He told the women he already has given the go-ahead for installation of a caution blinker at the school. He said the women should specify what signs are needed and he will see they are taken care of.

He also suggested a committee be organized to travel to Charleston and meet with state officials.

Mrs. Smith said James Edwards, owner of the Waterford Park Race Track has promised his cooperation in any effort to improve the county.

Rodak suggested a safety cleanup committee be organized and volunteered to attend meetings and help get a beautification program under way.

The sheriff asked residents contact him if anything else is needed, but he urged them not to picket. He assured the women they are welcome at meetings of the county commissioners.

The dispute began when the women and their children, about 30 altogether, rerouted pottery traffic and slowed cars headed for Waterford Park Tuesday. They said the situation on the street had become impossible and that children were getting hurt while playing and older residents were afraid to walk along the stretch for fear of injury.

Weir High Given National Award For Its Program

Weir High School has been named West Virginia's "Pacemaker" for educational improvement in a nationwide school recognition project sponsored by the National Educational Association and Parade, a Sunday newspaper magazine.

The citation will be presented to the school at an awards dinner Wednesday during the 105th annual NEA convention at Minneapolis.

The citation, one of 25 awarded to high schools throughout the nation, will be accepted by Dominic Amedeo, principal.

The schools were honored "for leading the way to better education for America's youth."

Weir High is being cited for its research center curriculum in which independent research projects are conducted.

The research projects had been compulsory, but were changed last month by the Hancock County Board of Education to an elective.

The Weirton school plant is unique with a campus - like design consisting of eight buildings spread over 56 acres. The hub of the institution is its library, which is surrounded by three academic buildings called, "little schools A, B and C." There is also a physical education plant, Theater, Arts Center, Business Education-Art-Administration building and the service structure.

Home Looted; Plant Entered

East Liverpool police today are investigating burglaries in which a home was looted and a quantity of hand tools was stolen from an industrial plant.

Socket wrenches, drills and other hand tools were taken from the Economy Manufacturing Co. plant at 1308 Railroad St. by intruders who gained entrance Wednesday night or Thursday morning by opening a little-used sliding door on the north side of the building, officers said.

An inventory will be required to establish the total loss, police said. Employes reporting for work Thursday found a large shipping door standing open on the east side of the building. Near the door, they found hoses, gauges, torches and other items that may have been abandoned when the thieves were frightened away, officers said.

The second burglary was reported at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Abbott of 500 1st Ave. The entry was timed between 9:30 p.m. June 17 and 10:47 a.m. yesterday. The burglar broke a hole in a pane of glass in a rear door and then manipulated the latch.

A metal box about 18-x-6 inches was taken from a cupboard in a bedroom. It contained personal papers, including a deed to the home, insurance policies and similar documents, police said.

Nothing else was disturbed. Abbott told police he and his children left the home on June 17 to go to Georgia, where Mrs. Abbott already had been called by the death and illness of her mother.

Stolen Auto Located Here After 3 Weeks

East Liverpool police proved Thursday afternoon there's no direct relationship between the length of time a stolen car has been missing and the spot where it's found.

A local man's car, missing for more than three weeks, was found four blocks from the spot where it was stolen.

Edward B. Martin, a resident of the YMCA, reported his 1961 four - door sedan stolen the night of June 7 from E. 4th St. near Washington St.

Lt. Charles E. (Bill) Tice found the car abandoned on College St. at 3:45 p.m. yesterday. Apparently undamaged, it was released to the owner a short time later.

At the center of a hurricane, there is an area known as the "eye of the storm," where there is little or no wind.

John Copitka of the Auto Body Supply Co. was host and co-sponsor along with the Keys Co., Genuine Parts and Craven Parts Service Co., all of East Liverpool.

Vietnam

there had been no mention of any merchant ship in the action reports.

The bombing targets were on the south bank of the Kua Kam River, Haiphong's artery to the sea. The city itself lies on the south bank of the river and merchant shipping is often moored up and down the river and outside the immediate Haiphong port facilities.

The precise targets were the Loi Dong fuel storage area, about 3.7 miles from the center of Haiphong, and the Cong My transshipment point, about half a mile further out.

The spokesman said both areas had been raided previously.

The raids on the Hoa Lac MIG field were made by Thunderchiefs based in Thailand, whose pilots spotted two MIG17s on the base and claimed damaging one of them. Returning pilots also reported extensive damage to the runways and hits on administrative support buildings.

The planes also raked the northeast rail line leading from Hanoi to Red China, reporting one spectacular strike on a yard 34 miles from the city.

The air war also included a bombing error which killed one Marine and wounded four others in South Vietnam's northern sector, the U.S. Command reported. A U.S. Marine plane on a support mission accidentally bombed a unit of the 1st Marine Regiment about 20 miles southwest of Da Nang.

The heaviest military blows in the South today were struck by America's high-altitude B52s raiding from Guam and Thailand. Before dawn, the big bombers unloaded three strikes on suspected Communist concentration points in areas where U.S. officers fear Communist attacks.

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today ordered license suspensions for two motorists who faced him on charges of traffic violations.

Kenneth C. Ours, 57, of 1137 Oakdale Ave., Wellsville, was fined $20 and costs and given a 20-day suspension of his operator's permit when he pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding 80 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd. He was clocked by the State Highway Patrol's airplane Monday at 3:58 p.m., the patrol reported.

Joseph W. D'Alessio, 20, of Dairy Ln. was fined $25 and costs and given a 30-day license suspension on a reckless driving charge filed by the patrol.

Officers alleged D'Alessio's auto went off Park Way early last Saturday and struck two cars which were parked about 13 feet off the pavement.

MICHAEL LYONS, 24, of 130 Columbia Dr., Chester, escaped a license suspension because an Ohio court cannot lift a permit issued by another state, the judge said. Lyons was fined $25 and costs when he pleaded guilty to speeding 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the Freeway. He was cited by the patrol Wednesday at 10 p.m.

James G. Duck, 40, of 513 18th St., Wellsville, was fined $15 and costs when he pleaded guilty to speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on Route 7. He was clocked by the patrol's airplane Monday at 4:28 p.m. A similar penalty was ordered for Charles E. Malone, 22, of 500½ 15th St., Wellsville, clocked by the plane Monday at 3:20 p.m. on a charge of driving 72 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone.

Girl, 4, Escapes Serious Injuries In Lisbon Mishap

LISBON — Janine Ashton, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Chic) Ashton of 228 S. Lincoln Ave., escaped serious injury at 2:45 p. m. Thursday when she ran into the side of a panel truck in front of her home.

Chief of Police Leon T. Zahrndt said Thomas A. Hess, 39, of Leetonia R. D. 2 told him he did not see the child until he heard something hit the side of the truck and looked in the rear view mirror and saw her rolling.

The accident happened in view of a neighbor girl who was babysitting while the Ashtons were away from home. Mrs. Marjorie Winters, a neighbor, took Janine to Salem City Hospital for X-rays and treatment of abrasions.

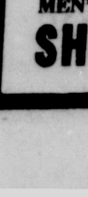

Mr. and Mrs. Ashton arrived home shortly after the mishap and brought Janine home from the hospital.

They said witnesses told them Janine walked into the street from behind a parked car as she crossed from the west side of Lincoln Ave. (Route 164) to her home on the east side. The truck was northbound.

A 14-foot-high state route marker on W. Lincoln Way, a block west of the Square, was knocked down by a backing truck at 1:10 p.m. yesterday.

Sheriff Promises Help In Meeting At Newell

Hancock County Sheriff Joe Rodak, in a meeting with eight Newell women Thursday afternoon, promised to look into the legal aspects of several requests by the group and to contact other county and state authorities in an effort to get permanent repairs to the 900 block of Grant St.

The 90 - minute session came about following a demonstration by Grant St. residents Tuesday afternoon and evening protesting potholes that lined the thoroughfare. State Road Commission crews filled the holes Wednesday, but the women are seeking a paving job in addition.

The women, according to their spokesman, Mrs. Ruth Smith, seek several actions in addition to the street paving.

They have asked that playground signs be erected in the area of Clark Field and speed limit signs, which reportedly have been torn down, replaced in the vicinity of Wells Junior High School.

Rodak said he is not only interested in Newell, but also the surrounding Hancock County area. He told the women he already has given the go-ahead for installation of a caution blinker at the school. He said the women should specify what signs are needed and he will see they are taken care of.

He also suggested a committee be organized to travel to Charleston and meet with state officials.

Mrs. Smith said James Edwards, owner of the Waterford Park Race Track has promised his cooperation in any effort to improve the county.

Rodak suggested a safety cleanup committee be organized and volunteered to attend meetings and help get a beautification program under way.

The sheriff asked residents contact him if anything else is needed, but he urged them not to picket. He assured the women they are welcome at meetings of the county commissioners.

The dispute began when the women and their children, about 30 altogether, rerouted pottery traffic and slowed cars headed for Waterford Park Tuesday. They said the situation on the street had become impossible and that children were getting hurt while playing and older residents were afraid to walk along the stretch for fear of injury.

Weir High Given National Award For Its Program

Weir High School has been named West Virginia's "Pacemaker" for educational improvement in a nationwide school recognition project sponsored by the National Educational Association and Parade, a Sunday newspaper magazine.

The citation will be presented to the school at an awards dinner Wednesday during the 105th annual NEA convention at Minneapolis.

The citation, one of 25 awarded to high schools throughout the nation, will be accepted by Dominic Amedeo, principal.

The schools were honored "for leading the way to better education for America's youth."

Weir High is being cited for its research center curriculum in which independent research projects are conducted.

The research projects had been compulsory, but were changed last month by the Hancock County Board of Education to an elective.

The Weirton school plant is unique with a campus - like design consisting of eight buildings spread over 56 acres. The hub of the institution is its library, which is surrounded by three academic buildings called, "little schools A, B and C." There is also a physical education plant, Theater, Arts Center, Business Education-Art-Administration building and the service structure.

Two Fined By Herron At New Cumberland

George Sapp, 27, of R. D. 1 and Ray Baker, 21, both paid $50 and costs. They were cited by West Virginia state police.

Home Looted; Plant Entered

East Liverpool police today are investigating burglaries in which a home was looted and a quantity of hand tools was stolen from an industrial plant.

Socket wrenches, drills and other hand tools were taken from the Economy Manufacturing Co. plant at 1308 Railroad St. by intruders who gained entrance Wednesday night or Thursday morning by opening a little-used sliding door on the north side of the building, officers said.

An inventory will be required to establish the total loss, police said. Employes reporting for work Thursday found a large shipping door standing open on the east side of the building. Near the door, they found hoses, gauges, torches and other items that may have been abandoned when the thieves were frightened away, officers said.

The second burglary was reported at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Abbott of 500 1st Ave. The entry was timed between 9:30 p.m. June 17 and 10:47 a.m. yesterday. The burglar broke a hole in a pane of glass in a rear door and then manipulated the latch.

A metal box about 18-x-6 inches was taken from a cupboard in a bedroom. It contained personal papers, including a deed to the home, insurance policies and similar documents, police said.

Nothing else was disturbed. Abbott told police he and his children left the home on June 17 to go to Georgia, where Mrs. Abbott already had been called by the death and illness of her mother.

Stolen Auto Located Here After 3 Weeks

East Liverpool police proved Thursday afternoon there's no direct relationship between the length of time a stolen car has been missing and the spot where it's found.

A local man's car, missing for more than three weeks, was found four blocks from the spot where it was stolen.

Edward B. Martin, a resident of the YMCA, reported his 1961 four - door sedan stolen the night of June 7 from E. 4th St. near Washington St.

Lt. Charles E. (Bill) Tice found the car abandoned on College St. at 3:45 p.m. yesterday. Apparently undamaged, it was released to the owner a short time later.

At the center of a hurricane, there is an area known as the "eye of the storm," where there is little or no wind.

32 Take Part In Auto Body Meeting Here

A brief history of the Tri-State Auto Body Association and its accomplishments was presented by Bud Wilson of Steubenville, president of the association, during a meeting Thursday night at the Inn Town Motel.

Wilson stressed the need for correcting local problems and for achievement through group programs and cooperation.

Attending the session were 32 guests from Steubenville, Follansbee, Chester, Wellsville, Smithfield, Wintersville, Salineville and East Liverpool.

John Copitka of the Auto Body Supply Co. was host and co-sponsor along with the Keys Co., Genuine Parts and Craven Parts Service Co., all of East Liverpool.

The next meeting will be held in September at the Steubenville headquarters. The organization is open to both dealer operated and independent shops and is currently supported by some of the oldest dealers in the valley.

Vietnam

there had been no mention of any merchant ship in the action reports.

The bombing targets were on the south bank of the Kua Kam River, Haiphong's artery to the sea. The city itself lies on the south bank of the river and merchant shipping is often moored up and down the river and outside the immediate Haiphong port facilities.

The precise targets were the Loi Dong fuel storage area, about 3.7 miles from the center of Haiphong, and the Cong My transshipment point, about half a mile further out.

The spokesman said both areas had been raided previously.

The raids on the Hoa Lac MIG field were made by Thunderchiefs based in Thailand, whose pilots spotted two MIG17s on the base and claimed damaging one of them. Returning pilots also reported extensive damage to the runways and hits on administrative support buildings.

The planes also raked the northeast rail line leading from Hanoi to Red China, reporting one spectacular strike on a yard 34 miles from the city.

The air war also included a bombing error which killed one Marine and wounded four others in South Vietnam's northern sector, the U.S. Command reported. A U.S. Marine plane on a support mission accidentally bombed a unit of the 1st Marine Regiment about 20 miles southwest of Da Nang.

The heaviest military blows in the South today were struck by America's high-altitude B52s raiding from Guam and Thailand. Before dawn, the big bombers unloaded three strikes on suspected Communist concentration points in areas where U.S. officers fear Communist attacks.

2 Motorists Lose Licenses In Municipal Court Hearings

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today ordered license suspensions for two motorists who faced him on charges of traffic violations.

Kenneth C. Ours, 57, of 1137 Oakdale Ave., Wellsville, was fined $20 and costs and given a 20-day suspension of his operator's permit when he pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding 80 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd. He was clocked by the State Highway Patrol's airplane Monday at 3:58 p.m., the patrol reported.

Joseph W. D'Alessio, 20, of Dairy Ln. was fined $25 and costs and given a 30-day license suspension on a reckless driving charge filed by the patrol.

Officers alleged D'Alessio's auto went off Park Way early last Saturday and struck two cars which were parked about 13 feet off the pavement.

MICHAEL LYONS, 24, of 130 Columbia Dr., Chester, escaped a license suspension because an Ohio court cannot lift a permit issued by another state, the judge said. Lyons was fined $25 and costs when he pleaded guilty to speeding 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the Freeway. He was cited by the patrol Wednesday at 10 p.m.

James G. Duck, 40, of 513 18th St., Wellsville, was fined $15 and costs when he pleaded guilty to speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on Route 7. He was clocked by the patrol's airplane Monday at 4:28 p.m. A similar penalty was ordered for Charles E. Malone, 22, of 500½ 15th St., Wellsville, clocked by the plane Monday at 3:20 p.m. on a charge of driving 72 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone.

William Gough of 209 9th St., Wellsville, was fined $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on Route 7 Tuesday at 9:15 p.m. Dolores Calabrese, 36, of 600 Jefferson St., Toronto, also was fined $15 and costs on a charge of driving 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone. She was cited on Route 7 Tuesday at 8 p.m.

JEWEL C. CRISLIP, 58, of Grafton, W. Va., forfeited a $17.50 appearance bond on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on Route 30 Sunday at 11:05 a.m.

Robert V. Sprout of 676½ Lincoln Ave. was ordered to pay the court costs on each of two charges — driving an auto with no tail lights and with no illumination for the rear license plate. He was cited early Saturday on Bradshaw Ave. Sprout presented bills to the judge today to show the defects have been corrected.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise; My tip is for those who pack lunches during hot days.

I spread the bread with mayonnaise or mustard in the usual way and place it in a sandwich bag in the lunch box.

Then I roll lunch meat and place it in a plastic bag which I pack in a chilled wide-mouth, small vacuum bottle.

Also celery, etc., may be added in the bottle along with the meat.

And since you have that nice wide-mouth vacuum bottle, why not sometimes put in thin slices of your leftover roast and pour hot gravy over it and then cap it?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: We could never find a ruler or measuring tape when we needed it until we discovered that we could hold the object to be measured against the tiles in the kitchen or bath.

Wall tiles are usually four inches and floor tiles are nine or twelve inches.

So terribly simple, and always there once you know the width of your tiles.

MRS. CLARA SMITH.

DEAR HELOISE: When nights are hot and humid, instead of pinning back my nylon curtains. I put the bottom of them through a wire coat hanger, lift the hanger and hook it to the curtain rod.

This lets the air in and the curtains stay clean longer because they're held away from the window screens.

A.F.L.

DEAR HELOISE: I keep my medicines and shampoos (or anything I don't want my children to ge at) on the top shelf of my linen closet.

By lining them up on an old Lazy Susan, I can just spin it and quickly come up with the medicine I want.

No more standing on a chair to look in the back of a shelf.

Thanks a million for this really marvelous safety idea. Protecting our little ones is our number one job.

DEAR HELOISE: I always wear rubber gloves to do my housework, especially the dishes.

I was spending an awful lot just on gloves since I wear them out quickly.

So I hit on the idea of reinforcing the thumb, forefinger and second finger by cutting off the fingers of an old pair and inserting them inside the new ones.

Well, it's amazing how much more wear I get from ny rubber gloves now.

MRS. A. W. BAILEY.

DEAR HELOISE: For the poor fishermen or those who just plain get hot, whether cutting the yard or digging up the wife's flower bed:

I learned to wet a man's handkerchief in water, wring it out and lay it on top of my head before putting my straw hat on.

This gives what I call an air conditioning that hasn't been invented yet.

It sure is cool, especially if you have left part of the handkerchief hanging back towards you neck so that it barely touches your shoulder!

WALTER M.

DEAR HELOISE: Whenever we go on vacation we remove the small license plate which usually hangs on our key chain and attach it to the dog's collar.

This makes her easier for people to identify in case she's lost.

It also makes us easier to find as it gives our license plate number.

Vandals Topple 14 Gravestones

Damage and property loss will range as high as $3,000 or $4,000 at Spring Grove Cemetery, where 14 gravestones were toppled by vandals Wednesday night or Thursday.

Police filed a report on the vandalism Thursday afternoon after the initial report was received from Chester Brown, superintendent. Three of the monuments were broken and the others were toppled from their bases.

Authorities said resetting the toppled monuments will cost from $20 to $50 each, while the price of replacing the broken gravestones will be much higher. All were of granite or marble.

Brown told police he last checked the cemetery about 12:30 a. m. yesterday and found nothing amiss. He said he discovered the damage about 9 a.m.

Ohio Wheat Planting Allotments Lowered

WASHINGTON (AP)— Wheat planting allotments for Ohio farmers will be 1,699,514 acres in 1968, compared to 1,956,964 allowed this year, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said Thursday.

Freeman said the national allotment for 1968 is 59,300,000 acres. This year it was 68,195,000.

Quiet Tug-Of-War Developes Over Jayne Mansfield Rites

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The once-beautiful body of buxom Jayne Mansfield, victim of a violent highway collision, lay today in the white-tiled morgue here as a quiet tug-of war over her funeral developed.

Matt Cimber, estranged third husband of the 34-year-old actress, rushed here after her death Thursday and said he would plan the funeral.

Husband No. 2, movie muscleman Mickey Hargitay, also flew here. He went first to the bedside of their three children—injured when the car carrying Miss Mansfield rammed the rear of a big truck east of the city.

Hargitay said his former wife's mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Peers of Dallas, Tex., also had come here about Miss Mansfield's funeral.

He said it would be private but declined to elaborate. One funeral home said: "We're waiting further word from the mother."

Dr. Nicholas Chetta, Orleans Parish coroner, ordered his staff not to release Miss Mansfield's body without his approval.

Also killed in the 2:25 a.m. wreck 34 miles from the heart of New Orleans were Miss Mansfield's latest love interest, attorney Samuel S. Brody, 48, of Los Angeles, and the chauffeur of the car, Ronald Harrison, 20, of Mississippi City, Miss.

Mickey Hargitay Jr., 8, was told by his father that his mother "had a date with God."

"He is a smart boy," said Hargitay, his eyes flooded with tears and his voice choked with emotion. "He understood."

In Hollywood, Hargitay's manager, Ross Christena, said the couple were still in love.

"They had dinner together in New York a week ago," Christena said. "Jayne told Mickey many times he was the only man she really loved."

She was to return to Biloxi later Thursday and was to entertain Seabees today at the Navy mobile construction battalion training center at Gulfport, Miss.

Hargitay, their father, said he would take them back to California when they were released from the hospital.

Kennedys Start Expedition On Colorado River

They plan to camp tonight at Vasey's Paradise after several hours of river riding.

Four to six hours a day will be spent shooting the rapids and riding on the river. The rest of the time will be taken up by swimming, floating on air mattresses, fishing and hiking.

The trip is being made on large neoprene rafts holding 10 to 14 persons each. Each raft has an outboard motor and two sets of oars.

Kennedy met his family Thursday at a floating marina on Lake Powell about 30 miles northeast of Glen Canyon Dam. They hiked to Rainbow Bridge National Monument before traveling by boat to a lodge near the dam.

Father And Son Enjoy 'Reunion' During Training

A Toronto area man, a member of the Navy Reserves, and his son, in the Navy, enjoyed a reunion of sorts not too long ago aboard the USS Guam berthed at Norfolk, Va.

Dean Coil, a deputy sheriff in Jefferson County, and his son Steven enjoyed the rather unique experience.

The civilian sailors underwent in-port training aboard ship and also were at sea for four days, where training included gunnery and casualty practices.

Although they were in different departments aboard ship, the Coils were able to spend their liberty hours together.

Dean Coil, the father of four other boys, had been out of the service for 21 years when he enlisted in the Navy Reserves last February.

MULTIPLE BIRTHS

Q. I know that quintuplets are rare, but how rare? Is there any record of six or more babies being born at the same time?

A. Six is the greatest number of human fetuses delivered at one time, despite extravagant claims to the contrary. In no case of proved sextuplets has any such offspring survived for more than 24 hours. In 28 million births occurring in the U.S. between 1922 and 1936, quadruplets occurred once in 492,314 pregnancies, while among 57 million births between 1928 and 1949, triplets were recorded once in 9,130 births, and twins occurred once in 89.3 births.

EXTRASYSTOLES

Q. I have been told that I have extra—something or other—meaning extra heart beats. Is this a sign of heart trouble?

A. As a rule premature beats (extrasystoles) are of no importance. They often occur in otherwise healthy hearts, especially in people past middle age. One famous heart specialist has said that they have the same significance as grey hairs.

Quiet Tug-Of-War Developes Over Jayne Mansfield Rites

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The once-beautiful body of buxom Jayne Mansfield, victim of a violent highway collision, lay today in the white-tiled morgue here as a quiet tug-of war over her funeral developed.

Matt Cimber, estranged third husband of the 34-year-old actress, rushed here after her death Thursday and said he would plan the funeral.

Husband No. 2, movie muscleman Mickey Hargitay, also flew here. He went first to the bedside of their three children—injured when the car carrying Miss Mansfield rammed the rear of a big truck east of the city.

Hargitay said his former wife's mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Peers of Dallas, Tex., also had come here about Miss Mansfield's funeral.

He said it would be private but declined to elaborate. One funeral home said: "We're waiting further word from the mother."

Dr. Nicholas Chetta, Orleans Parish coroner, ordered his staff not to release Miss Mansfield's body without his approval.

Also killed in the 2:25 a.m. wreck 34 miles from the heart of New Orleans were Miss Mansfield's latest love interest, attorney Samuel S. Brody, 48, of Los Angeles, and the chauffeur of the car, Ronald Harrison, 20, of Mississippi City, Miss.

Mickey Hargitay Jr., 8, was told by his father that his mother "had a date with God."

"He is a smart boy," said Hargitay, his eyes flooded with tears and his voice choked with emotion. "He understood."

In Hollywood, Hargitay's manager, Ross Christena, said the couple were still in love.

"They had dinner together in New York a week ago," Christena said. "Jayne told Mickey many times he was the only man she really loved."

She was to return to Biloxi later Thursday and was to entertain Seabees today at the Navy mobile construction battalion training center at Gulfport, Miss.

Hargitay, their father, said he would take them back to California when they were released from the hospital.

Kennedys Start Expedition On Colorado River

They plan to camp tonight at Vasey's Paradise after several hours of river riding.

Four to six hours a day will be spent shooting the rapids and riding on the river. The rest of the time will be taken up by swimming, floating on air mattresses, fishing and hiking.

The trip is being made on large neoprene rafts holding 10 to 14 persons each. Each raft has an outboard motor and two sets of oars.

Kennedy met his family Thursday at a floating marina on Lake Powell about 30 miles northeast of Glen Canyon Dam. They hiked to Rainbow Bridge National Monument before traveling by boat to a lodge near the dam.

Father And Son Enjoy 'Reunion' During Training

A Toronto area man, a member of the Navy Reserves, and his son, in the Navy, enjoyed a reunion of sorts not too long ago aboard the USS Guam berthed at Norfolk, Va.

Dean Coil, a deputy sheriff in Jefferson County, and his son Steven enjoyed the rather unique experience.

The civilian sailors underwent in-port training aboard ship and also were at sea for four days, where training included gunnery and casualty practices.

Although they were in different departments aboard ship, the Coils were able to spend their liberty hours together.

Dean Coil, the father of four other boys, had been out of the service for 21 years when he enlisted in the Navy Reserves last February.

MULTIPLE BIRTHS

Q. I know that quintuplets are rare, but how rare? Is there any record of six or more babies being born at the same time?

A. Six is the greatest number of human fetuses delivered at one time, despite extravagant claims to the contrary. In no case of proved sextuplets has any such offspring survived for more than 24 hours. In 28 million births occurring in the U.S. between 1922 and 1936, quadruplets occurred once in 492,314 pregnancies, while among 57 million births between 1928 and 1949, triplets were recorded once in 9,130 births, and twins occurred once in 89.3 births.

EXTRASYSTOLES

Q. I have been told that I have extra—something or other—meaning extra heart beats. Is this a sign of heart trouble?

A. As a rule premature beats (extrasystoles) are of no importance. They often occur in otherwise healthy hearts, especially in people past middle age. One famous heart specialist has said that they have the same significance as grey hairs.

TV, A Game For The Big

TC A GAME for the Big ....

Bigness, whether we like it or not, certainly is the key to survival in TV network broadcasting. This was ABC's central argument for merging with International Telephone & Telegraph, which the FCC approved last week fo the second time, and another event took place to Hal Humphrey prove ABC was right.

The United Network, which was billing itself as "the fourth network," filed for bankruptcy on the very day of the ABC-IT&T merger approval. United got one show on the air (Bill Dana from Las Vegas) after nearly a year of planning and refinancing, only to find it could not pay its bills for even one month of actual operation.

FOURTH networks have been tried before and failed. They cannot get enough prime-time clearance with the hundreds of TV channels around the country simply because most of the channels are already affiliated with CBS, NBC or ABC.

United Network had 125 stations lined up for the Dana show late at night, but it takes more than one program to make a paying network. Even ABC, which always has been referred to in the trades as "the third network," is in that category because it generally has about one-quarter fewer channels on its affiliate lineup than CBS and NBC.

The only reason for a fourth network really would be if it brought to the viewers something different from the other three, which generally program along the same highly commercial lines. It was obvious that United Network had nothing new to offer, but just wanted a slice of the commercial pie.

THERE IS ROOM, however, for a noncommercial forth network, which would not be competing for the advertising dollar, and the legislation for it already has been passed by the Senate (Senate Bill 1160) and is now before the House.

It would establish government public subsidized programming on an interconnected network basis among the country's 100 or more educational TV channels.

A kind of pilot program for the networking of these ETV channels will be put on once a week this fall under the aegis of the Ford Foundation.

Fred Friendly, formerly of CBS and now a consultant at Ford Foundation, is the guiding light behind this Public Broadcast Laboratory, as it is called, and the commercial networks at least are watching for it with great and slightly apprehensive interest.

EVEN IF the public TV bill is passed, it will be a long time before it can get the funds necessary to be any real competition to the three commercial networks. Still, the public is being bombarded now with speeches and columns warning them about public TV.

The implication is that the federal government would be directly involved with the programs, which is not true any more than the British government actually runs the programs seen on the British Broadcast Corp.

There are performers, writers and producers who are not now any of our three commercial networks because they are considered "too controversial" for selling merchandise to the masses.

This type of self-imposed censorship can be more dangerous to our national welfare than anything a public TV network might do. In fact, public TV might offset this censorship practiced by the commercial networks.

OPPONENTS to a public TV system worry about our being brainwashed by its slanting the news or subverting the drama and other entertainment to coincide with grovernment views.

They don't seem the slightest bit concerned over the slanting and subverting carried on by the commercial networks for the commercial interests — and for the government, too, when those interests happen to coincide.

Now that ABC has (barring another Justice Department appeal) its merger with IT&T. we are assured of three powerful commercial networks operating in the public interest only so far as it remains profitable for them — a fact which may or may not always be of profit to the public.

Mayor Explains Need Of Zoning Certificate

Any person who plans a new building or changes in the basic use of an existing structure or land now must apply for a zoning certificate at City Hall, Mayor George E. Willshaw explained today.

The certificate, required under the city's new zoning regulations, takes the place of the building permit which was required under prior laws. Applicants may obtain the necessary forms at City Hall. The required investigations then will be made by Charles D. Morrell, the newly - appointed zoning inspector, the mayor said.

Fees range from $3 for an accessory building, sign or fence to $5 for a single family dwelling and on up to $25 for a multiple dwelling and such structures as commercial and industrial buildings.

Mayor Explains Need Of Zoning Certificate

Any person who plans a new building or changes in the basic use of an existing structure or land now must apply for a zoning certificate at City Hall, Mayor George E. Willshaw explained today.

The certificate, required under the city's new zoning regulations, takes the place of the building permit which was required under prior laws. Applicants may obtain the necessary forms at City Hall. The required investigations then will be made by Charles D. Morrell, the newly - appointed zoning inspector, the mayor said.

Fees range from $3 for an accessory building, sign or fence to $5 for a single family dwelling and on up to $25 for a multiple dwelling and such structures as commercial and industrial buildings.

3 Youths Held Following $31 Wheeling Holdup

WHEELING (AP) — A 14-year-old boy and two 18-year old companions have been arrested following the holdup of a downtown Wheeling cleaning establishment by a lone gunman.

Police said the gunman made off with about $31 Wednesday evening, shortly before the shop was scheduled to close.

Mrs. Irma Kuhens was quoted as saying the gunman brandished his pistol and said, "I need the money badly and I'll shoot you."

The boy, whose identity is being withheld by police because of his age, was arrested Thursday. Police said when he was apprehended, a gun used to fire blanks fell from his trousers.

The other two teenagers, George Baker and Randy Peak both 18 and both of Wheeling, have been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

37 New West Virginia Laws Will Take Effect Saturday

CHARLESTON (AP) — New West Virginia laws to curb racial discrimination in jobs and public accommodations and to tighten state control over strip-mining are among 37 acts passed by the legislature last winter which take effect Saturday.

The bulk of the legislation passed by the 1967 session already is in effect. However, 37 acts carried a July 1 effective date and a few minor measures do not go into effect until next Jan. 1.

Other acts on the July 1 list include:

— Lengthening public school teachers' employment from 9½ to 10 months a year.

— A new corporate net income tax law.

— Increased benefits for on-the-job injury under the workmen's compensation program (higher unemployment compensation benefits took effect April 1).

— Repeal of the prohibition against use of state funds in operation of branches of state-supported universities and colleges.

— Creation of a new, nine-member board to replace the State Health Department as the licensing agency for nursing homes.

The anti - discrimination and strip-mining laws both were among measures for which Gov. Hulett C. Smith urged legislative passage.

The State Human Rights Commission will administer the anti-discrimination law. For the first time since its creation six years ago, the commission will have weapons beyond simple persuasion to use in fighting racial discrimination.

The law prohibits discrimination because of race, religion or national ancestry in access to public accommodations. It also prohibits discrimination for any of these reasons in hiring by businesses or industries with 25 or more employes in the state.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 22-year-old career girl who gave a party for several friends recently. I planned some kid-style parlor games, mostly for laughs.

As a gag, I agreed to sleep with one of the men if he could guess the number of pennies in the jar. (I've been a penny saver for years.) It was a 5,032 to 1 chance. Pretty darned safe odds as any gambler knows.

Well, Ann, when he said "5,032" I almost died on the spot. I had the number written on a slip of paper and another man was holding the paper, so I was sunk.

The winner has telephoned me twice in the last three days wanting to know when I'm going to pay up. I tried to laugh it off, but he's dead serious. There's no denying he won the bet but I feel he should let me off the hook. When I told him so he said, "Why should I?" Please advise me. — HOODA-THUNKIT.

Dear Hood: It was a gag to begin with and it should end on a gag note. Send him, via special messenger — the jar of pennies and enclose a note saying you want him to have the pennies as a souvenier of "The Great Copper Cop Out." That should settle it.

Expensive Lesson

Dear Ann: Two and a half years ago some relatives borrowed $3,000 from us for a down payment on a home. They were having a third child and needed to get out of a crowded apartment. They promised to pay us $125 a month and turn over his Christmas bonuses which usually ran about $500.

For four months they paid right on the dot. When Christmas came they said they needed the money to clean up some old debts. The next month they said they could not pay the $125 because they owed on back taxes. For two years they have not said one word about the money they owe us.

They have bought new carpeting and a new car. Sunday they announced that they are going to Montreal for Expo 67.

The trip is what tipped my husband over. He says they have no character and he wants nothing more to do with them. How do you feel about it? — SKINNED.

Dear Skinned: I think your husband's approach is a poor one. He should telephone the relatives and make a date to discuss repayment of the debt. He should make it clear that he feels they are honorable people and he wants to give them every opportunity to do the decent thing.

Floating Arena

Dear Ann: My husband and I are planning a cross-country motor trip. We have two sons, 6 and 8 years of age. last year we took them on an extensive motor trip and it was a horror. The boys hit each other all the way from Tucson to Chicago.

A neighbor told me that you printed a very good solution to this problem some time ago. I didn't see it, and she couldn't remember the way you worded it. Will you say it again, please? — FRACTIONATED MOTOR.

Dear Mother: I do indeed remember the letter and I'm happy to repeat my advice. When kids get bored they love to play "Let's Aggravate Our Parents."

Before you set out on a motor trip, buy plenty of puzzles, crayons and games to keep the kids busy. Make it plain no fighting will be tolerated and that the minute a fight starts, the driver will pull over to the side of the road, both kids will be spanked and that the procedure will be repeated as often as necessary.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Queen Starts Handshaking Part Of Her Canadian Tour

But Elizabeth's press secretary said the Queen was pleased to find that "security precautions aren't being frightfully obvious."

The royal party had been led to believe in London that it would be virtually smuggled from place to place by hundreds of police because of some anti-British sentiment in Canada.

Arriving here Thursday to begin a six-day tour, Elizabeth was welcomed by some 60,000 subjects along the route of her motorcade.

The press secretary said the Queen was unaware that six artillerymen who fired her welcoming salute were slightly injured when their personnel carrier collided with a press bus traveling about five minutes ahead of Elizabeth's closed American limousine.

The Queen is staying at Government House, a mansion where she and her husband, Prince Philip, have a staff of 20 and a suite with two bedrooms, two bathrooms, chandeliers, beige carpets and gray-green walls.

Elizabeth will stay in Ottawa until Sunday when she goes by royal yacht to Expo 67 in Montreal. She will technically avoid entering French-speaking Quebec Province where her 1964 visit brought an outbreak of anti-British sentiment.

Gunman, Officer At Holdup Site, Shot, Wounded

CLEVELAND (AP) — One of two gunmen who attempted to rob the Barristers Inn and a policeman answering a holdup alarm were shot and wounded in the downtown Cleveland bar late Thursday night, police said.

The policeman, Pasquale "Pat" Amato, 45, was reported in satisfactory condition at St. Vincent Charity Hospital. He is a 20-year-veteran of the police force.

Police said two gunmen entered the bar, pulled guns and herded 18 customers and co-owner Abe Blogier to a storage room in the basement.

Amato was shot after he and patrolman Herman Kreuz entered the tavern in response to a holdup alarm.

Police said Lassiter picked up his sport coat from a table as the policemen approached, reached into a pocket and ordered them to put up their hands and then shot twice.

Amato, father of four children, was shot once in the back as he tried to duck away from the gunman's bullets.

They Are Not So Wild About Harry In 'Pirateland'

By IRA MILLER
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "This is the year, this is the beer," proudly proclaims one of the Pittsburgh Pirates radio-television sponsors.

HARRY WALKER
Fans Blame 'The Hat.'

But one problem has led to another and people have started asking, "The year for what?"

Earlier this week, Pirate fans were asked by a local television station to judge the job Manager Harry Walker has done.

And by a margin of better than 3-to-2 among more than 3,000 votes, the fans turned thumbs down.

WIIC - TV asked on its early evening news feature "Public Opinion" Wednesday night, "Do you blame Harry Walker for the relatively poor showing of the Pirates?"

Viewers were asked to call one of two telephone numbers one for a yes vote, the other for a no vote — before the station's late night news and record their opinions.

The final tally showed 1,083 yes votes and 1,283 no votes, a margin of 61-35 per cent and a difference of 700 among 3,266 votes.

Things haven't gone well for the talkative Walker, whose team was picked by almost everybody to romp off with the National League pennant but today finds itself in sixth place.

Handling Of Pitchers Cited . . .

Pitchers on his present staff —Bob Veale most recently and Vern Law before that — have openly criticized his handling of them as have former Pirates Don Cardwell and Bob Friend.

There have been undercurrents of dissension on the squad, but no one will say anything publicly, except Jim Pagliaroni, who asked to be traded last month.

And of course the most recent incident took place Tuesday when a Pirate rally against the Mets was wiped out because the Bucs were batting out of order.

Earlier this season Walker got into a rhubarb with a fan outside Forbes Field and reportedly slugged him. There were no witnesses, but the next night the fan was a Pirate guest in a box seat next to the dugout.

While some fans quizzed by The Associated Press refused to have Walker shoulder all the blame, most thought he was largely at fault.

"If he has anything to do with it, it's lower morale," said Lloyd M. Mays.

"He has a lot to do with it if the players don't feel like putting out for him," replied Leo R. Nath. "But they are professionals and should put out 100 per cent whether they like the manager or not."

Fan Says Players Overrated . . .

Another fan, Frank E. Baker, said simply that the Pirates had a lot of overrated players who had superlative years all at once last season and created the image of a powerhouse.

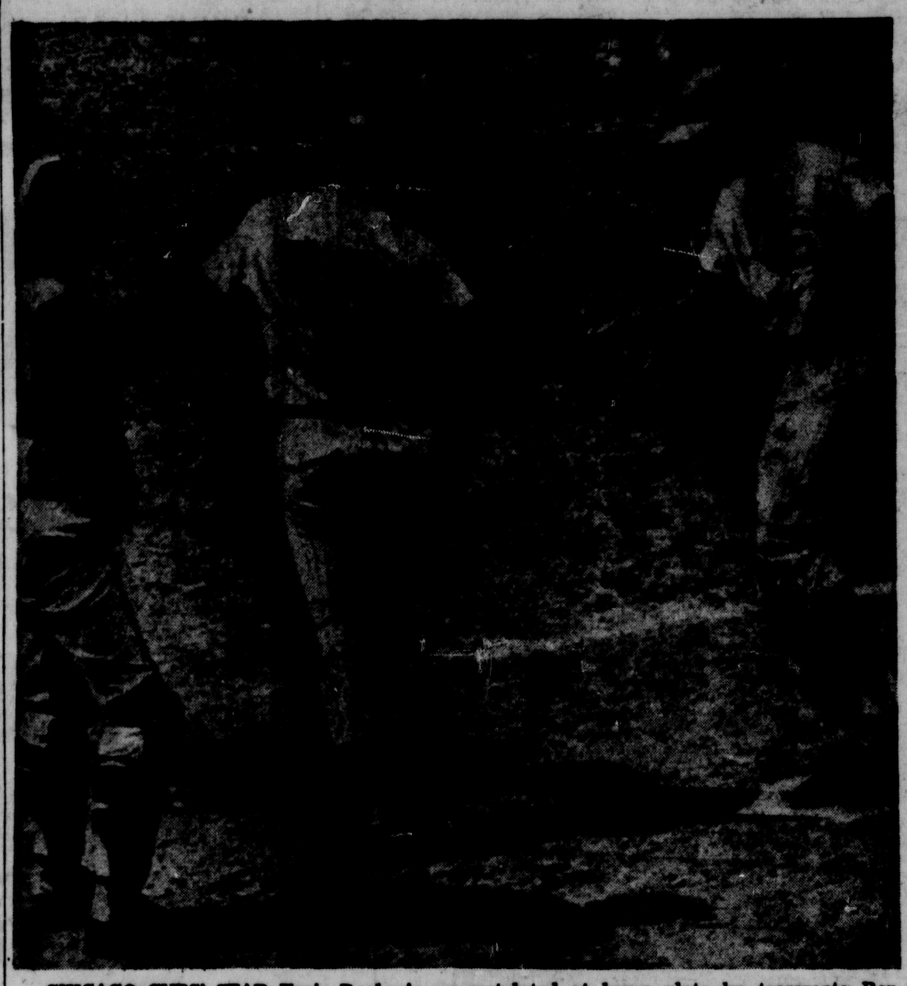

"They can't produce when they have to," Baker said.

This is Walker's third year as Pirate manager. In 1965, the Bucs lost 22 of their first 31 games and fell into last place. Players said Walker "couldn't communicate' with them and didn't like his method of bawling them out in the dugout.

But the Pirates turned around and climbed up to third place. Last season, after holding first place for almost three months, Pittsburgh faltered at the end of the season and finished third again, though leading the major leagues in batting.

It was this strong hitting, plus a supposedly strengthened pitching staff, that established the Pirates as favorites this season. But the hitting has been off and Pittsburgh pitchers are threatening the major league record for fewest complete games.

Giants Maul Leaders, 12-4

CHICAGO CUBS' STAR Ernie Banks is congratulated at home plate by teammate Ron Santo after hitting his 15th home run of the season in the sixth inning Thursday giving the Cubs a 4-3 victory over Pittsburgh. (UPI Telephoto)

Reds Rip LA; Cubs Only 1½ Out Of First

By HALCBOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It wasn't exactly an All-Star night for Bob Gibson and Don Drysdale, both of whom were chosen for the National League team shortly before taking their regular pitching turns Thursday night.

Gibson, the over-powering St. Louis right-hander, was manhandled for nine runs in less than one inning as San Francisco scored 11 first-inning runs and walloped the Cardinals 12-4.

Drysdale suffered a similar fate against Cincinnati, lasting into the second inning and allowing six runs on seven hits as the Reds bombed Los Angeles 14-0.

Elsewhere in the National League, Jim Bunning, who wasn't picked for the All-Star staff looked more the part, shutting out New York on three hits as Philadelphia nipped the Mets 1-0, and Chicago moved within 1½ games of first place by topping Pittsburgh 4-3. Houston's game at Atlanta was rained out.

The first eight Giants to bat against Gibson reached base, and seven of them scored. San Francisco bunched 10 hits in the 11-run inning against Gibson and reliever Nelson Briles with Jim Hart's three-run homer climaxing the assault.

Despite the big bulge, San Francisco starter Joe Gibbon failed to retire a batter, allowing four straight hits. Bob Bolin came on and got credit for the victory.

It wasn't quite as bad for Drysdale against the Reds. He was charged with six of the runs as the Reds charged to an 11-0 lead in the first three innings.

Two of New York's three hits were infield rollers and only five Mets reached base against the Philadelphia ace, who squared his record at 8-8.

Bunning retired the first 10 batters and 14 of the last 15, striking out seven and walking two. He got the only run he needed when the Phillies bunched three hits against loser Jack Fisher in the fourth inning.

The victory was the 10th in the last 11 games for the second-place Cubs.

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fred Whitfield sure knows how to hurt a guy, adding insult to injury that left the once high-flying and healthy Detroit Tigers beaten and bruised again.

The Cleveland first baseman relaxed on the bench for seven innings Thursday night, watching the Tigers roll merrily along with thoughts of victory dancing in their heads. Then stepping off the bench, he dashed them unmercifully with a pinch hit three-run homer in the eighth inning that gave the Indians a 5-3 triumph.

The loss was the 15th in 21 games for the second-place Tigers, who led the league until June 11. Detroit also lost another outfielder, Gates Brown, who joined All-Star Al Kaline on the sidelines.

Still worse, the Tigers missed a chance to pick up a game on the Chicago White Sox, who never had much reason for hope as Baltimore's Tom Phoebus cut them down on three hits 4-1 in the only other American League game.

The Tigers remained 5½ games behind Chicago and only 2½ games from second division as Whitfield again proved painful in the late innings. The famous New York Yankee killer, who has won two other games with 10th-inning homers and a third with an eighth-inning single, turned on the Tigers in this chance to do damage with the 100th homer of his major league career.

Vic Davalillo, batting for winner Luis Tiant, had doubled with one out and Max Alvis had singled him home. When Leon Wagner followed with another hit, Fred Gladding replaced Denny McLain on the mound and Whitfield took over for Don Demeter at the plate and hit a 400-foot drive in the upper deck in right field.

The Tigers had taken a 3-1 lead on a solo shot by Dick McAuliffe and a two-run blast by Mickey Stanley in the seventh.

The rookie right-hander struck out 11, walked none and weakened only in the second inning when Ken Berry touched him for a homer. Tommy Agee's single in the first and J.C. Martin's double in the fifth were the only other hits.

"Getting the ball over the plate was my biggest asset," he said after raising his record to 7-3. "The only way to beat Chicago is to throw strikes and keep their runners off the bases."

"I'm surprised he only had 11 strike outs," said Pete Ward of the Sox. "I thought he struck out 15 or 16 the way he threw."

Chicago Manager Eddie Stanky also was impressed.

"Is he that good?" he asked of Phoebus, who has Baltimore's only two victories in the last seven games. "He's a stopper. He sure stopped us tonight."

Alston Selects 'Star' Pitchers

CINCINNATI (AP) — Manager Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers named two of his own hurlers today to the eight-man National League pitching staff for the annual All-Star Game to be played at Anaheim, Calif., July 11.

They were Don Drysdale and Claude Osteen.

In all, Alston, who will manage the National Leaguers, picked five right-handers and three left-handers. They have a combined won and lost record of 67-40 through games of Thursday night.

Besides Drysdale, the right-handers named were Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants, Gerguson Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs, Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals, and rookie Tom Seaver of the New York Mets.

The southpaws, in addition to Osteen, will be Denny Lemaster of the Atlanta Braves and Mike Cuellar of the Houston Astros.

The starting lineup, named by a vote of players, except for pitchers, was announced Thursday and Alston's choices for hurlers leaves only the Cincinnati Reds without a man on the squad thus far. The Reds led the league until a recent slump, which came after a rash of injuries sidelined a flock of regulars.

All-Star Game rules require at least one player on the squad from each club so a Cincinnati player will have to be selected later by Alston when he names extra players to go with the starting lineup and the pitchers.

Five of the pitchers will be making their first appearance on an All-Star squad. They are Jenkins, 10-5, Seaver, 6-5, Osteen, 10-7, Lemaster, 7-2, and Cuellar, 8-3.

It will be Marichal's sixth time on the squad. He has a 10-6 record this year and has a 1-0 record in previous All-Star games. In those contests he has pitched 11 innings and has an earned-run average of 0.82.

Drysdale with a 7-8 record this year will be the senior member of the staff as far as All-Star Games are concerned. He has been named six times previously and has an 0-1 record. He has pitched 14⅓ innings, allowed eight hits, struck out 17 and has an earned-run average of 1.88.

Gibson, 9-6, has been on the squad three times previously but has an earned-run average of 2.25.

Both Gibson and Drysdale were clobbered Thursday night.

The original American League starting lineup had only two left-handed hitters, leading speculation that Alston would be a cinch to start one of his right-handed pitchers. The American Leaguers, however, already have lost Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers because of a broken hand. American League Manager Hank Bauer of Baltimore has named Minneapolis' Tony Oliva, a lefty, to take his place among the starters.

The team selected by the players to start the game at all positions, except pitcher, will be:

Welsh's Homer Gives Woodbine 7th In Row

A booming home run by Rick Welsh in the fifth inning broke a 5-5 tie and gave Woodbine a 6-5 victory over Burbick's for its seventh straight victory in the second half of play in the Pony League Thursday.

Burbick's took a 4-0 lead with a run in the first and three in the third but Woodbine tied it with four runs in the last of the third then went in front with a run in the fourth. Burbick's scored in the top of the fifth for the 5-5 tie before Welsh connected.

Randy McVay was the winning pitcher and turned in 15 strikeouts. Whittaker took the loss. Henderson and Lascola also contributed two hits to the Woodbine attack with Henderson driving in two runs.

Robinson had three hits including two doubles for Burbick's while Whittaker doubled and singled.

They Are Not So Wild About Harry In 'Pirateland'

By IRA MILLER
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "This is the year, this is the beer," proudly proclaims one of the Pittsburgh Pirates radio-television sponsors.

HARRY WALKER
Fans Blame 'The Hat.'

But one problem has led to another and people have started asking, "The year for what?"

Earlier this week, Pirate fans were asked by a local television station to judge the job Manager Harry Walker has done.

And by a margin of better than 3-to-2 among more than 3,000 votes, the fans turned thumbs down.

WIIC - TV asked on its early evening news feature "Public Opinion" Wednesday night, "Do you blame Harry Walker for the relatively poor showing of the Pirates?"

Viewers were asked to call one of two telephone numbers one for a yes vote, the other for a no vote — before the station's late night news and record their opinions.

The final tally showed 1,083 yes votes and 1,283 no votes, a margin of 61-35 per cent and a difference of 700 among 3,266 votes.

Things haven't gone well for the talkative Walker, whose team was picked by almost everybody to romp off with the National League pennant but today finds itself in sixth place.

Handling Of Pitchers Cited . . .

And while it's all not the manager's fault, Walker has left himself open to lots of criticism, particularly his handling of pitchers and his refusal to settle on a regular starting rotation.

Pitchers on his present staff —Bob Veale most recently and Vern Law before that — have openly criticized his handling of them as have former Pirates Don Cardwell and Bob Friend.

There have been undercurrents of dissension on the squad, but no one will say anything publicly, except Jim Pagliaroni, who asked to be traded last month.

And of course the most recent incident took place Tuesday when a Pirate rally against the Mets was wiped out because the Bucs were batting out of order.

Earlier this season Walker got into a rhubarb with a fan outside Forbes Field and reportedly slugged him. There were no witnesses, but the next night the fan was a Pirate guest in a box seat next to the dugout.

While some fans quizzed by The Associated Press refused to have Walker shoulder all the blame, most thought he was largely at fault.

"If he has anything to do with it, it's lower morale," said Lloyd M. Mays.

"He has a lot to do with it if the players don't feel like putting out for him," replied Leo R. Nath. "But they are professionals and should put out 100 per cent whether they like the manager or not."

Fan Says Players Overrated . . .

Another fan, Frank E. Baker, said simply that the Pirates had a lot of overrated players who had superlative years all at once last season and created the image of a powerhouse.

"They can't produce when they have to," Baker said.

This is Walker's third year as Pirate manager. In 1965, the Bucs lost 22 of their first 31 games and fell into last place. Players said Walker "couldn't communicate' with them and didn't like his method of bawling them out in the dugout.

But the Pirates turned around and climbed up to third place. Last season, after holding first place for almost three months, Pittsburgh faltered at the end of the season and finished third again, though leading the major leagues in batting.

It was this strong hitting, plus a supposedly strengthened pitching staff, that established the Pirates as favorites this season. But the hitting has been off and Pittsburgh pitchers are threatening the major league record for fewest complete games.

Reds Rip LA; Cubs Only 1½ Out Of First

By HALCBOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It wasn't exactly an All-Star night for Bob Gibson and Don Drysdale, both of whom were chosen for the National League team shortly before taking their regular pitching turns Thursday night.

Gibson, the over-powering St. Louis right-hander, was manhandled for nine runs in less than one inning as San Francisco scored 11 first-inning runs and walloped the Cardinals 12-4.

Drysdale suffered a similar fate against Cincinnati, lasting into the second inning and allowing six runs on seven hits as the Reds bombed Los Angeles 14-0.

Elsewhere in the National League, Jim Bunning, who wasn't picked for the All-Star staff looked more the part, shutting out New York on three hits as Philadelphia nipped the Mets 1-0, and Chicago moved within 1½ games of first place by topping Pittsburgh 4-3. Houston's game at Atlanta was rained out.

The first eight Giants to bat against Gibson reached base, and seven of them scored. San Francisco bunched 10 hits in the 11-run inning against Gibson and reliever Nelson Briles with Jim Hart's three-run homer climaxing the assault.

Despite the big bulge, San Francisco starter Joe Gibbon failed to retire a batter, allowing four straight hits. Bob Bolin came on and got credit for the victory.

It wasn't quite as bad for Drysdale against the Reds. He was charged with six of the runs as the Reds charged to an 11-0 lead in the first three innings.

Tony Perez, Don Pavletich and Deron Johnson each slammed home runs and drove in three runs apiece as Cincinnati raked four Dodger pitchers for 18 hits.

Two of New York's three hits were infield rollers and only five Mets reached base against the Philadelphia ace, who squared his record at 8-8.

Bunning retired the first 10 batters and 14 of the last 15, striking out seven and walking two. He got the only run he needed when the Phillies bunched three hits against loser Jack Fisher in the fourth inning.

The victory was the 10th in the last 11 games for the second-place Cubs.

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fred Whitfield sure knows how to hurt a guy, adding insult to injury that left the once high-flying and healthy Detroit Tigers beaten and bruised again.

The Cleveland first baseman relaxed on the bench for seven innings Thursday night, watching the Tigers roll merrily along with thoughts of victory dancing in their heads. Then stepping off the bench, he dashed them unmercifully with a pinch hit three-run homer in the eighth inning that gave the Indians a 5-3 triumph.

The loss was the 15th in 21 games for the second-place Tigers, who led the league until June 11. Detroit also lost another outfielder, Gates Brown, who joined All-Star Al Kaline on the sidelines.

Still worse, the Tigers missed a chance to pick up a game on the Chicago White Sox, who never had much reason for hope as Baltimore's Tom Phoebus cut them down on three hits 4-1 in the only other American League game.

The Tigers remained 5½ games behind Chicago and only 2½ games from second division as Whitfield again proved painful in the late innings. The famous New York Yankee killer, who has won two other games with 10th-inning homers and a third with an eighth-inning single, turned on the Tigers in this chance to do damage with the 100th homer of his major league career.

The rookie right-hander struck out 11, walked none and weakened only in the second inning when Ken Berry touched him for a homer. Tommy Agee's single in the first and J.C. Martin's double in the fifth were the only other hits.

"Getting the ball over the plate was my biggest asset," he said after raising his record to 7-3. "The only way to beat Chicago is to throw strikes and keep their runners off the bases."

"I'm surprised he only had 11 strike outs," said Pete Ward of the Sox. "I thought he struck out 15 or 16 the way he threw."

Alston Selects 'Star' Pitchers

Unknown Sets 1st Round Pace In Canadian Open

MONTREAL (AP) — It figured. Golf's touring pros took one look at the short, flat, waterless Montreal Municipal Course, rubbed their hands in glee and privately predicted they'd take it apart.

They did. But who would have figured that the chief destroyers would be Laurie Hammer, Roger Ginsberg, Steve Reid and Dave Stockton?

Hammer, 24, a big blond, All-American-boy type from Sarasota, Fla., established the first-round lead with a five-under-par 66. He had five birdies and no bogeys.

Ginsberg, 28, who has yet to win on the tour, and Reid, 30, a part-time performer on the pro circuit, tied for second with veteran Art Wall, all at 67.

Sharing the next position at 68 were Dave Stockton, 25, who scored his first tournament victory earlier this year, and vet Gardner Dickinson.

In retrospect, it really isn't too surprising. In six of the last 12 years this tournament has been won by rookie pros, unknowns or amateurs.

But Hammer may be the longest shot of them all. In 1½ years on the tour he has won about $2,100—including pro-am events in all. His best finish has been a tie for 16th.

But he played with the aplomb of a veteran Thursday, calmly carving out his 66 and then relaxing and letting the rest of them shoot at it.

"I guess I played pretty well," said the lanky youngster, who is sponsored by his father, a retired dairy man from Illinois. "I only missed one green. You've got to play well when you do that.

"Sure, I've been pretty discouraged at times—I only won $16 in 1966. I've never really thought of quitting, but my dad and I kind of put a time limit of two years on it."

Then he flashed that big smile and added:

"But we might have to extend it now."

Nicklaus, who said he played "a half sloppy round," was one of five tied at 69. The others were Labron Harris, Hugh Royer, Billy Casper and Argentine Veteran Roberto DeVicenzo, who missed a hole in one by a foot.

In all, 18 players beat par and another 15 matched it.

Palmer and Player were not among them. Palmer, with Nickklaus the co-favorite, took a one-over 72 on "the worst driving I've done in a long time." Player, who had practice rounds of 66 and 65, struggled in with a 75.

Parsons, Medics, Dairymen Win Little League Battles

Parsons edged Burbick's 8-7 while the Medics bombarded Chester Legion 15-1 and Golden Star was a 12-3 winner over Vernon Dell in Little League games Thursday.

Jones had three hits in four trips and Samples two in pacing Parson's victory. M. McGeehan was the winning hurler while Chip Clutter was the loser. Jones came up with three hits and Clutter two for Burbick's.

Moore hit three doubles while Dailey and Lockhart had two hits each to pace the Medics 12-hit attack. Chema was the winning pitcher and allowed five hits. Goddard stroked two hits for the losers. Madish was the losing pitcher.

Hoppel, LeMasters and Talbot each belted home runs to spark an 11-hit attack for Golden Star. Hoppel also doubled, singled and walked once for a three-for-three night.

Talbott was the winning pitcher while J. Henderson suffered the loss. Cunningham had two hits for Vernon Dell.

Flag Tourney Won By Burnett, McLaren At Club

Mrs. M. P. Burnett and Mrs. J. R. McLaren won the first and second divisions respectively in the ladies flag golf tournament held Wednesday at the Country Club.

Mrs. Burnett won the first division when she hit a drive (one stroke) on the 19th hole. Mrs. Rick Crable won low gross with 43-51-94 while the putting finished in a two-way tie between Mrs. W. B. Laughlin and Mrs. W. T. Pomeroy Jr. with 32 each.

Mrs. McLaren captured the second division by reaching the 10th green while Mrs. Arthur Doak was second by placing her flag in the ninth hole.

Mrs. W. J. Hocking and Mrs. J. R. McLaren tied in putting with 17 each.

2 High-Scoring Contests Mark Minor League

Two high scoring contests marked the Minor League action Thursday as First National won 28-17 over Potters Savings while Rogers Drive-In topped Potters Bank, 19-15. In one other game, M & A Motors nipped Pusateri's, 6-5.

Logan had a perfect game at the plate for First National by hitting five straight safeties including two triples and two doubles and scored five runs. Cekovich had a similar performance for Potters Savings with a four for five night at the plate and scored four times. Kinsey also had three triples in a losing cause. Baumgarner was the winning pitcher. Rogers Drive In scored in every inning to come out on top even though Potters Bank outhit them 18-9.

Craig Dray and Jeff Anderson had two hits each for Rogers and Jerry Lockhart was the winning pitcher. Shawn Sloan slammed three doubles to lead Potters Bank.

Pusateri's rally in the last of the sixth fell short as M & A hung on for the victory. Gary Marker and Roger Wolfe had two hits each and Dave Rinehart homered. Rick Pugh collected three hits for Pusateri's. Tom Piatt was the winning pitcher and Pugh was the loser.

Walker's Triple Gives Hookstown 7-6 League Win

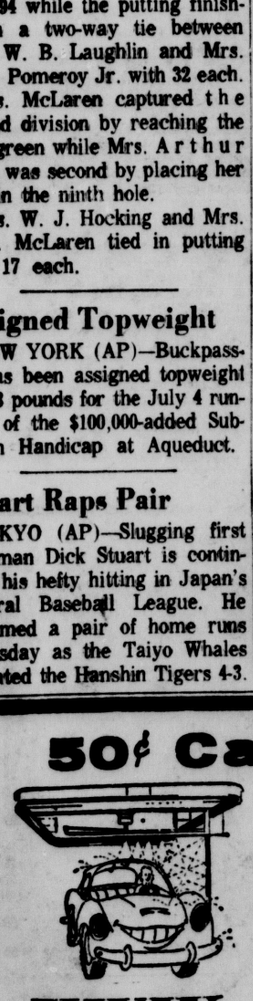

A two-run triple by Bruce Walker in the last of the seventh gave Hookstown a 7-6 victory over Lawrenceville in a South Side Senior League game Thursday.

Sam Laughlin was the winning pitcher in relief while Walker, Searight and Dydek supplied the offensive punch with two hits each. Bill Lyons was the losing pitcher.

Unknown Sets 1st Round Pace In Canadian Open

MONTREAL (AP) — It figured. Golf's touring pros took one look at the short, flat, waterless Montreal Municipal Course, rubbed their hands in glee and privately predicted they'd take it apart.

They did. But who would have figured that the chief destroyers would be Laurie Hammer, Roger Ginsberg, Steve Reid and Dave Stockton?

Hammer, 24, a big blond, All-American-boy type from Sarasota, Fla., established the first-round lead with a five-under-par 66. He had five birdies and no bogeys.

Ginsberg, 28, who has yet to win on the tour, and Reid, 30, a part-time performer on the pro circuit, tied for second with veteran Art Wall, all at 67.

Sharing the next position at 68 were Dave Stockton, 25, who scored his first tournament victory earlier this year, and vet Gardner Dickinson.

In retrospect, it really isn't too surprising. In six of the last 12 years this tournament has been won by rookie pros, unknowns or amateurs.

But Hammer may be the longest shot of them all. In 1½ years on the tour he has won about $2,100 including pro-am events in all. His best finish has been a tie for 16th.

But he played with the aplomb of a veteran Thursday, calmly carving out his 66 and then relaxing and letting the rest of them shoot at it.

"I guess I played pretty well," said the lanky youngster, who is sponsored by his father, a retired dairy man from Illinois. "I only missed one green. You've got to play well when you do that.

"Sure, I've been pretty discouraged at times—I only won $16 in 1966. I've never really thought of quitting, but my dad and I kind of put a time limit of two years on it."

Then he flashed that big smile and added:

"But we might have to extend it now."

Nicklaus, who said he played "a half sloppy round," was one of five tied at 69. The others were Labron Harris, Hugh Royer, Billy Casper and Argentine Veteran Roberto DeVicenzo, who missed a hole in one by a foot.

In all, 18 players beat par and another 15 matched it.

Palmer and Player were not among them. Palmer, with Nickklaus the co-favorite, took a one-over 72 on "the worst driving I've done in a long time." Player, who had practice rounds of 66 and 65, struggled in with a 75.

Parsons, Medics, Dairymen Win Little League Battles

Parsons edged Burbick's 8-7 while the Medics bombarded Chester Legion 15-1 and Golden Star was a 12-3 winner over Vernon Dell in Little League games Thursday.

Jones had three hits in four trips and Samples two in pacing Parson's victory. M. McGeehan was the winning hurler while Chip Clutter was the loser. Jones came up with three hits and Clutter two for Burbick's.

A fee of twenty ($20.00) dollars shall be paid to the Zoning Inspector at the time notice of appeal is filed, which the officer shall forthwith pay over to the City Auditor to the credit of the General Revenue Fund.

1101.2 Appeals

(a) An appeal to the Board may be taken by any person aggrieved or by an officer of the municipality affected by any decision of the Zoning Inspector. Such appeal shall be taken within twenty (20) days after the decision has been made in writing, entered in the Zoning Inspector's records, and a copy of the same sent to the Appellant by certified mail to the address appearing on the appeal, by filing with the Zoning Inspector and with the Board a notice of appeal specifying the grounds thereof. The Zoning Inspector shall forthwith transmit to the Board all the papers constituting the record upon which the action appealed from was taken.

(b) An appeal shall stay all proceedings in furtherance of the action appealed from, unless the Zoning Inspector shall certify to the Board of Zoning Appeals after the notice of appeal shall have been filed with it that by reasons of facts stated in the certificate, a stay would, in his opinion, cause imminent peril to life or property, in which case proceedings shall not be stayed otherwise than by a restraining order which may be granted by the Board or by a court of equity, after notice to the officer from whom the appeal is taken and on due cause shown.

(c) The Board may, in conformity with the provisions of this ordinance, reverse or affirm, wholly or partly, or may modify the order, requirement, decision, or determination appealed from and shall make such order, requirement, decision or determination as in its opinion ought to be made in the premises; and to that end, shall have all powers of the Zoning Inspector from whom the appeal is taken.

SECTION 1102. Hearings.

1102.1 The Board shall fix a reasonable time for the hearing of an appeal, give at least thirty (30) days public notice thereof in a newspaper of general circulation in the city and at least twenty (20) days notice to parties having proprietary interest in land within 200 feet and decide upon the appeal within a reasonable time after it is submitted. Each application or notice of appeal shall be accompanied by the fee hereinafter specified. At this hearing, any party may appear in person or by attorney.

1102.2 The hearings of the Board shall be public. However, the Board may go into executive session for discussion but not vote on any case before it.

1102.3 Upon the day for hearing any application or appeal, the Board may adjourn the hearing in order to permit the obtaining of additional information or to cause such further notice as it deems proper to be served upon such other property owners as it decides may be substantially interested in said application or appeal. In the case of an adjourned hearing, persons previously notified and persons already heard need not be notified of the time of resumption of said hearing unless the Board so decides.

SECTION 1103. Decisions of the Board

1103.1 The Board shall decide all applications and appeals within thirty (30) days after the final hearing thereon. The Board shall specify the findings upon which its decision rests.

1103.2 A certified copy of the Board's decision shall be transmitted to all parties in interest. Such decision shall be binding upon the Zoning Inspector and observed by him, and he shall incorporate the terms and conditions of the same in the permit to the applicant or appellant, whenever a permit is authorized by the Board.

1103.3 A decision of the Board shall not become final until the expiration of five (5) days from the date such decision is made, unless the Board shall find the immediate taking effect of such decision is necessary for the preservation of property or personal rights and shall so certify on the record.

1103.4 The Board may reverse or affirm, wholly or partly, or may modify the order, requirements, decision or determination appealed from and shall make such order, requirement, decision or determination as in its opinion ought to be made in the premises; and to that end, shall have all powers of the Zoning Inspector from whom the appeal is taken. Any party adversely affected by a decision of the Board may appeal to the Court of Common Pleas of the County, on the ground that the decision was unreasonable or unlawful.

SECTION 1104. Powers and Duties

The Board of Zoning Appeals shall have the following powers and it shall be its duty:

1104.1 To hear and decide appeals where it is alleged there is error of law in any order, requirement, decision or determination made by the Zoning Inspector in the enforcement of this ordinance or any amendment thereto.

1104.2 In hearing and deciding appeals, the Board shall have the power to grant an exception in the following instances.

(a) Permit the extension of a district up to two hundred (200) feet where the boundary line of a district divides a lot or tract held in a single ownership at the time of the passage of this ordinance.

(b) Interpret provisions of this ordinance in such a way as to carry out the intent and purpose of the plan, as shown upon the map fixing the several districts, accompanying and made a part of this ordinance where the street layout actually on the ground varies from the street layout as shown on the map aforesaid.

(c) Permit the reconstruction of a nonconforming building which has been damaged by explosion, fire, act of God, or the public enemy, to the extent of more than (50) percent of its fair market value where the Board finds some compelling necessity requiring a continuance of the nonconforming use and the primary purpose of continuing the nonconforming use is not to continue a monopoly.

(d) Waive or reduce the parking and loading requirements in any of the district whenever the character or use of the building is such as to make unnecessary the full provision of parking or loading facilities, or where such regulations would impose an unreasonable hardship on the use of the lot, as contrasted with merely granting an advantage or a convenience.

(e) Permit land within three hundred (300) feet of a multiple dwelling to be improved for the parking spaces required in connection with a multiple dwelling, but only when there is positive assurance that such land will be used for such purpose during the existence of the multiple dwelling.

(f) Determine whether an industry should be permitted within the "M-1" or "M-2" Industrial District because of the methods by which it would be operated and because of its effect upon uses within surrounding zoning districts.

(g) The substitution for a nonconforming use existing at the time of enactment of this ordinance, another nonconforming use, if no structural alterations except those required by law or ordinance, are made provided, however, that an "R" or "B" District, no change shall be authorized by the Board to any use which is not a permitted use or special exception in any "R" or "B" District.

(h) Nonconforming Mobile Home Parks can be expanded by increasing the number of trailers by not more than twenty (20) percent over their number at the date of the passage of this ordinance, provided that such expansion meets the minimum requirements of Section 701.

(i) Temporary Structures and Uses: The temporary use of a structure or premises in any district for a purpose or use that does not conform to the regulations prescribed elsewhere in this ordinance for the district in which it is located, provided that such use be of a temporary nature and does not involve the erection of a substantial structure. A zoning certificate for such use shall be granted in the form of a temporary and revocable permit, for not more than a twelve (12) month period, subject to such conditions as will safeguard the public health, safety, convenience and general welfare.

SECTION 1106. Variances

1106.1 The Board shall have the power to hear and decide appeals or variances and authorize such variances from the provisions or requirements of this ordinance as will not be contrary to the public interest. In authorizing a variance, the Board may attach conditions and require such guarantee or bond as it may deem necessary to assure compliance with the objectives of this ordinance. On appeal, where there is unnecessary hardship, the Board may grant a variance in the application of the provisions of the zoning ordinance only if all of the following findings are made:

(a) That there are unique physical circumstances or conditions, including irregularity, narrowness, or shallowness of lot size of shape or exceptional topographical or other physical conditions generally created by the provisions of the zoning ordinance in the neighborhood or district in which the property is located.

(b) That because of such physical circumstances or conditions, there is no possibility that the property can be developed in strict conformity with the provisions of the zoning ordinance and that the authorization of a variance is therefore necessary to enable the reasonable use of the property.

(c) That such unnecessary hardship has not been created by the appellant.

(d) That the variance, if authorized, will not alter the essential character of the neighborhood or district in which the property is located, nor substantially or permanently impair the appropriate use or development of adjacent property, nor be detrimental to the public welfare.

(e) That the variance, if authorized, will represent the miniumum variance that will afford relief and will represent the least modification possible of the regulation in issue.

1105.2 The Board shall have the authority to grant an extension or permit completion of a building devoted to a nonconforming use upon a lot occupied by such building, or on a lot adjoining, provided that such lot was under the same ownership as the lot in question on the date such building became nonconforming and where such extension is necessary and incidental to the existing use of such building; provided, however, that the floor areas of such extension shall not exceed in all one hundred (100) percent of the floor area of the existing building or buildings devoted to a nonconforming use.

SECTION 1106. Special Exceptions

1106.1 Under the authorization granted in Chapter 713 of the Ohio Revised Code, to hear and decide special exceptions to the terms of this ordinance, the Board shall have the power to decide applications for special exceptions in those cases specified in Article IV of this ordinance. In considering such application, the Board shall give due regard to the nature and condition of all adjacent uses and structures; and may impose such requirements and conditions as the Board may deem necessary for the protection of adjacent properties and the public interest, including specific limitations as to future expansion.

1106.2 The following basic standards shall apply to special exceptions in any "S", "A" or "R" District:

(a) The location and size of the use, the nature and intensity of the operations involved in or conducted in connection with it, its site layout, and its relation to streets giving access to it shall be such that both pedestrian and vehicular traffic to and from the use and the assembly of persons in connection with it will not be hazardous, inconvenient or conflict with the normal traffic or residential streets, both at the time and as the same may be expected to increase with any prospective increase in the population of the area, taking into account convenient routes of pedestrian traffic, particularly of children, relation to main traffic thoroughfares and to street intersections, and the general character and intensity of development of the area.

(b) The location and height of buildings, the location, nature, and height of walls and fences, and the nature and extent of landscaping on the site shall be such that the use will not hinder or discourage the appropriate development and use of adjacent land and buildings.

1106.3 The following basic standards shall apply to special exceptions in any "B" or "M" District:

(a) The location and size of the use, the nature and intensity of the operations, involved in or conducted in connection with it, its site layout, and its relation to streets giving access to it shall be such that vehicular traffic to and from the use will not be more hazardous than the normal traffic of the district, both at the time and as the same may be expected to increase with increasing development of the municipality, taking into account vehicular turning movements in relation to routes of traffic flow, relation to street intersections, sight distances, and relation to pedestrian traffic.

SECTION 1107. Performance Requirements.

1107.1 The Board shall have the power to authorize issuance of a zoning certificate for uses that are subject to performance requirements as set forth in this ordinance.

1107.2 The application for a zoning certificate for a use subject to performance requirements shall be accompanied by a plan of the proposed construction or development; a description of the proposed machinery, processes and products; and specifications for the mechanisms and techniques to be used in meeting the Performance Requirements.

1107.3 The Board may refer the application to one or more expert consultants qualified to advise as to whether a proposed use will conform to the performance requirements. The costs of such services shall be borne by the applicant, and a copy of any reports shall be furnished the applicant.

SECTION 1108. Interpretation of Zoning District Map

1108.1 Where the street or lot layout actually on the ground, or as recorded, differs from the street and lot lines as shown on the Zoning District Map, the Board, after notice to the owners of the property and after public hearing, shall interpret the map in such a way as to carry out the intent and purpose of this ordinance. in case of any questions as to the location of any boundary line between zoning districts, a request for interpretation of the Zoning District Map may be made to the Board and a determination shall be made by said Board.

ARTICLE XII DISTRICT CHANGES AND ORDINANCE AMENDMENTS

SECTION 1200. General

1200.1 Whenever the public necessity, convenience, general welfare or good zoning practices require, the Council may by Ordinance — after receipt of recommendation thereon from the Planning Commission, and subject to the procedures provided by law—amend, supplement or change the regulations, district boundaries or classification of property, now or hereafter established by this Ordinance or amendments thereof. It shall be the duty of the Commission to submit its recommendations regarding all applications or proposals for amendments or supplements to the Council.

SECTION 1201. Procedure for Change in Zoning Districts

1201.1 Applications for any change of district boundaries or classifications of property as shown on the Zoning Map, shall be submitted to the Commission, at its public office, upon such forms, and shall be accompanied by such data and information, as may be prescribed for the purpose by the Commission, so as to assure the fullest practicable presentation of facts for the permanent record. Each such application shall be verified by at least one of the owners or lessees of property within the area proposed to be reclassified, attesting to the truth and correctness of all facts and information presented with the applications. Applications for amendments initiated by the Commission shall be accompanied by its motion pertaining to such proposed amendment.

1201.3 Public Hearing by Commission: Before submitting recommendation on a proposed amendment to the Council, the Commission shall hold a public hearing thereon, notice of which shall be given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the City at least thirty (30) days before the date of the hearing. The notice shall state the place or places and times at which the proposed amendment to the ordinance, including text and maps, may be examined.

1201.4 Notice to Property Owners: In addition to the published notice as hereinbefore specified, the Commission shall give notice of the time, place and purpose of public hearings to be held by it on proposed amendments or supplements, by mailing a postal card or letter notice not less than twenty (20) days prior to the date of the hearing, to the owners of all properties lying within two hundred (200) feet of any part of the property proposed to be changed. The failure to notify, as provided in this Section, shall not invalidate any recommendations adopted hereunder; it being the intention of this section to provide, so far as may be possible, due notice to the persons substantially interested in the proposed change that an application is pending before the Commission, proposing to make a change in the Zoning District Map or the regulations set forth in this ordinance.

1201.5 Action of Commission: The Commission may recommend that the application be granted as requested, or it may recommend a modification of the zoning amendment requested in the application, or it may recommend that the application be not granted. These recommendations shall be certified to the Council within thirty (30) days after the hearing.

1201.6 Public Hearing by Council: After receiving from the Commission the certification of said recommendations on the proposed amendment, and before adoption of such amendment, the Council shall hold a public hearing thereon, at least thirty (30) days' notice of the time and place of which shall be given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the City once a week for two weeks. The notice shall state the place or places and times at which the proposed amendment to the ordinance, including text and maps, may be examined and other notices as required by State statutes or Planning Commission.

1201.7 Notice to Property Owners: In addition to the published notice as hereinbefore specified, the Clerk of Council shall give notice of the time, place and purpose of public hearings to be held by it on proposed amendments or supplements, by mailing a first - class mail notice not less than twenty (20) days prior to the date of hearing to the owners of all properties lying within two hundred (200) feet of any part of the property proposed to be changed. The failure to notify as provided in this Section shall not invalidate any recommendation adopted hereunder; it being the intention of this Section to provide notice to the persons substantially interested in the proposed change that an application is pending before the Commission, proposing to make a change in the Zoning Map or the regulations set forth in this ordinance.

1201.8 Action of Council: After receiving from the Planning Commission certification of the recommendations on the proposed amendment and after holding the above public hearing, the Council shall consider such recommendations and vote on the passage of the proposed amendment to the text of the ordinance or the Zoning Map. No such ordinance, measure or regulation which differs from or departs from the plan or report submitted by the Commission shall take effect unless passed or approved by not less than three-fourths of the membership of the legislative authority.

SECTION 1202. Application Fees

1202.1 At the time that an application for a change of zoning districts is filed with the Commission, as provided herein, there shall be deposited with the City Auditor, the sum of fifty ($50.00) dollars as a fee to cover investigation, legal notices and other expenses incidental to the determination of such matter, such fee to be for one lot or part of one lot. An additional fee of five ($5.00) dollars shall be deposited for each additional lot or part of an additional lot which may be included in the request, such additional lot or parcel of a lot to be adjacent to each other. Such sums so deposited shall be credited by the City Auditor to the General Fund.

1202.2 In the event that the Planning Commission disapproves the application and the petitioner elects not to have the same certified to the Council, then a refund of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars plus an additional refund of three ($3.00) for each additional lot or part of an additional lot which was included in the application should be made to the petitioner by the City Auditor; provided that the City Auditor is notified of such decision by the petitioner within thirty (30) days from the time of the action taken by the Planning Commission.

ARTICLE XIII — VALIDITY

1300. If any sentence, clause, section or part of this ordinance is found to be unconstitutional, illegal or invalid, such cause, sentence, section or part of this ordinance shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions, sentences, clauses, sections or other parts of this ordinance. It is hereby declared to be the intention of the City of East Liverpool that this ordinance would have been adopted had such unconstitutional, illegal or invalid sentence, clause, section or part thereof not been included herein.

SECTION 2. This ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety of said city and its citizens and shall take effect immediately upon passage and approval. Said emergency lies in the fact that zoning regulations are needed immediately to prevent the usage of land in certain areas in this city for purposes which should be prohibited in such areas and to end uncertainties now existing which prevent the building in other areas and for the further reasons expressed in the "purpose" section herein.

Application for such certificate for a nonconforming use shall be filed with the Zoning Inspector by the owner or lessee of the building or land occupied by such nonconforming use within three (3) months of the effective date of this ordinance. It shall be the duty of the Zoning Inspector to issue a certificate for a lawful nonconforming use but failure to apply for such certificate for a nonconforming use or refusal of the Zoning Inspector to issue a certificate for such nonconforming use shall be evidence that said nonconforming use was either illegal or did not lawfully exist at the effective date of this ordinance. ARTICLE XI
BOARD OF ZONING APPEALS

SECTION 1100. Organization and Procedures

1100.1. Appointment: There is hereby established a Board of Zoning Appeals which shall consist of five (5) electors appointed by Council. Council, by a majority vote of its members, shall choose a successor to fill any vacancy. The five (5) electors first appointed shall serve for terms of one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), and five (5) years, respectively; thereafter appointments shall be for five (5) year terms, beginning January 1st. Each member shall serve until his successor is appointed and qualified. Vacancies shall be filled by the Council and shall be for the respective unexpired term. The member of the Board of Zoning Appeals may receive such compensation as the Council provides.

1100.2 Hearings, Rules, Etc.: The hearings of the Board of Zoning Appeals shall be public. However, the Board may go into executive session for discussion but not for vote on any case before it. The Board shall organize annually and elect a President and Vice President from its members. The Board shall adopt such rules and regulations as it may deem necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this ordinance. A secretary of the Board may be appointed by said Board who shall have such duties as correspond to the title. He shall serve at the will of the Board and receive such compensation as council shall determine.

The Board shall hear any owner of property adjacent to the lot for which the granting of any zoning permit is pending, and shall also hear any other parties having substantial interest as determined by the Board.

1100.3 Minutes and Records: The Board shall keep minutes of its proceedings, showing the vote of each member upon each question; or if absent or failing to vote, indicating such fact; and shall keep records of its examinations and other official actions, all of which shall be immediately filed in the office of the Clerk of Council and shall be a public record.

1100.4 Witnesses, Oaths, etc.: The Board shall have the power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths, and punish for contempt, and may require the production of documents, under such regulations as it may establish.

1100.5 Department Assistance: The Board may call upon the various departments of the municipality for assistance in the performance of its duties, and it shall be the duty of such departments to render such assistance to the Board as may be required.

SECTION 1101. Applications and Appeals

1101.1 Appeals and Applications: An appeal, in cases in which the Board has original jurisdiction under the provisions of this ordinance, may be taken by any person aggrieved, including a tenant, or by a governmental officer, department, board or bureau. Such appeal shall be filed with the Zoning Inspector who shall transmit same to the Board. A fee of twenty ($20.00) dollars shall be paid to the Zoning Inspector at the time notice of appeal is filed, which the officer shall forthwith pay over to the City Auditor to the credit of the General Revenue Fund.

1101.2 Appeals

(a) An appeal to the Board may be taken by any person aggrieved or by an officer of the municipality affected by any decision of the Zoning Inspector. Such appeal shall be taken within twenty (20) days after the decision has been made in writing, entered in the Zoning Inspector's records, and a copy of the same sent to the Appellant by certified mail to the address appearing on the appeal, by filing with the Zoning Inspector and with the Board a notice of appeal specifying the grounds thereof. The Zoning Inspector shall forthwith transmit to the Board all the papers constituting the record upon which the action appealed from was taken.

(b) An appeal shall stay all proceedings in furtherance of the action appealed from, unless the Zoning Inspector shall certify to the Board of Zoning Appeals after the notice of appeal shall have been filed with it that by reasons of facts stated in the certificate, a stay would, in his opinion, cause imminent peril to life or property, in which case proceedings shall not be stayed otherwise than by a restraining order which may be granted by the Board or by a court of equity, after notice to the officer from whom the appeal is taken and on due cause shown.

(c) The Board may, in conformity with the provisions of this ordinance, reverse or affirm, wholly or partly, or may modify the order, requirement, decision, or determination appealed from and shall make such order, requirement, decision or determination as in its opinion ought to be made in the premises; and to that end, shall have all powers of the Zoning Inspector from whom the appeal is taken.

SECTION 1102. Hearings.

1102.1 The Board shall fix a reasonable time for the hearing of an appeal, give at least thirty (30) days public notice thereof in a newspaper of general circulation in the city and at least twenty (20) days notice to parties having proprietary interest in land within 200 feet and decide upon the appeal within a reasonable time after it is submitted. Each application or notice of appeal shall be accompanied by the fee hereinafter specified. At this hearing, any party may appear in person or by attorney.

1102.2 The hearings of the Board shall be public. However, the Board may go into executive session for discussion but not vote on any case before it.

1102.3 Upon the day for hearing any application or appeal, the Board may adjourn the hearing in order to permit the obtaining of additional information or to cause such further notice as it deems proper to be served upon such other property owners as it decides may be substantially interested in said application or appeal. In the case of an adjourned hearing, persons previously notified and persons already heard need not be notified of the time of resumption of said hearing unless the Board so decides.

SECTION 1103. Decisions of the Board

1103.1 The Board shall decide all applications and appeals within thirty (30) days after the final hearing thereon. The Board shall specify the findings upon which its decision rests.

1103.2 A certified copy of the Board's decision shall be transmitted to all parties in interest. Such decision shall be binding upon the Zoning Inspector and observed by him, and he shall incorporate the terms and conditions of the same in the permit to the applicant or appellant, whenever a permit is authorized by the Board.

1103.3 A decision of the Board shall not become final until the expiration of five (5) days from the date such decision is made, unless the Board shall find the immediate taking effect of such decision is necessary for the preservation of property or personal rights and shall so certify on the record.

1103.4 The Board may reverse or affirm, wholly or partly, or may modify the order, requirements, decision or determination appealed from and shall make such order, requirement, decision or determination as in its opinion ought to be made in the premises; and to that end, shall have all powers of the Zoning Inspector from whom the appeal is taken. Any party adversely affected by a decision of the Board may appeal to the Court of Common Pleas of the County, on the ground that the decision was unreasonable or unlawful.

SECTION 1104. Powers and Duties

The Board of Zoning Appeals shall have the following powers and it shall be its duty:

1104.1 To hear and decide appeals where it is alleged there is error of law in any order, requirement, decision or determination made by the Zoning Inspector in the enforcement of this ordinance or any amendment thereto.

1104.2 In hearing and deciding appeals, the Board shall have the power to grant an exception in the following instances.

(a) Permit the extension of a district up to two hundred (200) feet where the boundary line of a district divides a lot or tract held in a single ownership at the time of the passage of this ordinance.

(b) Interpret provisions of this ordinance in such a way as to carry out the intent and purpose of the plan, as shown upon the map fixing the several districts, accompanying and made a part of this ordinance where the street layout actually on the ground varies from the street layout as shown on the map aforesaid.

(c) Permit the reconstruction of a nonconforming building which has been damaged by explosion, fire, act of God, or the public enemy, to the extent of more than (60) percent of its fair market value where the Board finds some compelling necessity requiring a continuance of the nonconforming use and the primary purpose of continuing the nonconforming use is not to continue a monopoly.

(d) Waive or reduce the parking and loading requirements in any of the district whenever the character or use of the building is such as to make unnecessary the full provision of parking or loading facilities, or where such regulations would impose an unreasonable hardship on the use of the lot, as contrasted with merely granting an advantage or a convenience.

(e) Permit land within three hundred (300) feet of a multiple dwelling to be improved for the parking spaces required in connection with a multiple dwelling, but only when there is positive assurance that such land will be used for such purpose during the existence of the multiple dwelling.

(f) Determine whether an industry should be permitted within the "M-1" or "M-2" Industrial District because of the methods by which it would be operated and because of its effect upon uses within surrounding zoning districts.

(g) The substitution for a nonconforming use existing at the time of enactment of this ordinance, another nonconforming use, if no structural alterations except those required by law or ordinance, are made provided, however, that an "R" or "B" District, no change shall be authorized by the Board to any use which is not a permitted use or special exception in any "R" or "B" District.

(h) Nonconforming Mobile Home Parks can be expanded by increasing the number of trailers by not more than twenty (20) percent over their number at the date of the passage of this ordinance, provided that such expansion meets the minimum requirements of Section 701.

(i) Temporary Structures and Uses: The temporary use of a structure or premises in any district for a purpose or use that does not conform to the regulations prescribed elsewhere in this ordinance for the district in which it is located, provided that such use be of a temporary nature and does not involve the erection of a substantial structure. A zoning certificate for such use shall be granted in the form of a temporary and revocable permit, for not more than a twelve (12) month period, subject to such conditions as will safeguard the public health, safety, convenience and general welfare.

SECTION 1105. Variances

1105.1 The Board shall have the power to hear and decide appeals or variances and authorize such variances from the provisions or requirements of this ordinance as will not be contrary to the public interest. In authorizing a variance, the Board may attach conditions and require such guarantee or bond as it may deem necessary to assure compliance with the objectives of this ordinance. On appeal, where there is unnecessary hardship, the Board may grant a variance in the application of the provisions of the zoning ordinance only if all of the following findings are made:

(a) That there are unique physical circumstances or conditions, including irregularity, narrowness, or shallowness of lot size of shape or exceptional topographical or other physical conditions generally created by the provisions of the zoning ordinance in the neighborhood or district in which the property is located.

(b) That because of such physical circumstances or conditions, there is no possibility that the property can be developed in strict conformity with the provisions of the zoning ordinance and that the authorization of a variance is therefore necessary to enable the reasonable use of the property.

(c) That such unnecessary hardship has not been created by the appellant.

(d) That the variance, if authorized, will not alter the essential character of the neighborhood or district in which the property is located, nor substantially or permanently impair the appropriate use or development of adjacent property, nor be detrimental to the public welfare.

(e) That the variance, if authorized, will represent the miniumum variance that will afford relief and will represent the least modification possible of the regulation in issue.

1105.2 The Board shall have the authority to grant an extension or permit completion of a building devoted to a nonconforming use upon a lot occupied by such building, or on a lot adjoining, provided that such lot was under the same ownership as the lot in question on the date such building became nonconforming and where such extension is necessary and incidental to the existing use of such building; provided, however, that the floor areas of such extension shall not exceed in all one hundred (100) percent of the floor area of the existing building or buildings devoted to a nonconforming use.

SECTION 1106. Special Exceptions

1106.1 Under the authorization granted in Chapter 713 of the Ohio Revised Code, to hear and decide special exceptions to the terms of this ordinance, the Board shall have the power to decide applications for special exceptions in those cases specified in Article IV of this ordinance. In considering such application, the Board shall give due regard to the nature and condition of all adjacent uses and structures; and may impose such requirements and conditions as the Board may deem necessary for the protection of adjacent properties and the public interest, including specific limitations as to future expansion.

1106.2 The following basic standards shall apply to special exceptions in any "S", "A" or "R" District.

(a) The location and size of the use, the nature and intensity of the operations involved in or conducted in connection with it, its site layout, and its relation to streets giving access to it shall be such that both pedestrian and vehicular traffic to and from the use and the assembly of persons in connection with it will not be hazardous, inconvenient or conflict with the normal traffic or residential streets, both at the time and as the same may be expected to increase with any prospective increase in the population of the area, taking into account convenient routes of pedestrian traffic, particularly of children, relation to main traffic thoroughfares and to street intersections, and the general character and intensity of development of the area.

(b) The location and height of buildings, the location, nature, and height of walls and fences, and the nature and extent of landscaping on the site shall be such that the use will not hinder or discourage the appropriate development and use of adjacent land and buildings.

1106.3 The following basic standards shall apply to special exceptions in any "B" or "M" District:

(a) The location and size of the use, the nature and intensity of the operations, involved in or conducted in connection with it, its site layout, and its relation to streets giving access to it shall be such that vehicular traffic to and from the use will not be more hazardous than the normal traffic of the district, both at the time and as the same may be expected to increase with increasing development of the municipality, taking into account vehicular turning movements in relation to routes of traffic flow, relation to street intersections, sight distances, and relation to pedestrian traffic.

SECTION 1107. Performance Requirements.

1107.1 The Board shall have the power to authorize issuance of a zoning certificate for uses that are subject to performance requirements as set forth in this ordinance.

1107.2 The application for a zoning certificate for a use subject to performance requirements shall be accompanied by a plan of the proposed construction or development; a description of the proposed machinery, processes and products; and specifications for the mechanisms and techniques to be used in meeting the Performance Requirements.

1107.3 The Board may refer the application to one or more expert consultants qualified to advise as to whether a proposed use will conform to the performance requirements. The costs of such services shall be borne by the applicant, and a copy of any reports shall be furnished the applicant.

SECTION 1108. Interpretation of Zoning District Map

1108.1 Where the street or lot layout actually on the ground, or as recorded, differs from the street and lot lines as shown on the Zoning District Map, the Board, after notice to the owners of the property and after public hearing, shall interpret the map in such a way as to carry out the intent and purpose of this ordinance. In case of any questions as to the location of any boundary line between zoning districts, a request for interpretation of the Zoning District Map may be made to the Board and a determination shall be made by said Board.

ARTICLE XII DISTRICT CHANGES AND ORDINANCE AMENDMENTS

SECTION 1200. General

1200.1 Whenever the public necessity, convenience, general welfare or good zoning practices require, the Council may by Ordinance — after receipt of recommendation thereon from the Planning Commission, and subject to the procedures provided by law—amend, supplement or change the regulations, district boundaries or classification of property, now or hereafter established by this Ordinance or amendments thereof. It shall be the duty of the Commission to submit its recommendations regarding all applications or proposals for amendments or supplements to the Council.

SECTION 1201. Procedure for Change in Zoning Districts

1201.1 Applications for any change of district boundaries or classifications of property as shown on the Zoning Map, shall be submitted to the Commission, at its public office, upon such forms, and shall be accompanied by such data and information, as may be prescribed for the purpose by the Commission, so as to assure the fullest practicable presentation of facts for the permanent record. Each such application shall be verified by at least one of the owners or lessees of property within the area proposed to be reclassified, attesting to the truth and correctness of all facts and information presented with the applications. Applications for amendments initiated by the Commission shall be accompanied by its motion pertaining to such proposed amendment.

1201.3 Public Hearing by Commission: Before submitting recommendation on a proposed amendment to the Council, the Commission shall hold a public hearing thereon, notice of which shall be given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the City at least thirty (30) days before the date of the hearing. The notice shall state the place or places and times at which the proposed amendment to the ordinance, including text and maps, may be examined.

1201.4 Notice to Property Owners: In addition to the published notice as hereinbefore specified, the Commission shall give notice of the time, place and purpose of public hearings to be held by it on proposed amendments or supplements, by mailing a postal card or letter notice not less than twenty (20) days prior to the date of the hearing, to the owners of all properties lying within two hundred (200) feet of any part of the property proposed to be changed. The failure to notify, as provided in this Section, shall not invalidate any recommendations adopted hereunder; it being the intention of this section to provide, so far as may be possible, due notice to the persons substantially interested in the proposed change that an application is pending before the Commission, proposing to make a change in the Zoning District Map or the regulations set forth in this ordinance.

1201.5 Action of Commission: The Commission may recommend that the application be granted as requested, or it may recommend a modification of the zoning amendment requested in the application, or it may recommend that the application be not granted. These recommendations shall be certified to the Council within thirty (30) days after the hearing.

1201.6 Public Hearing by Council: After receiving from the Commission the certification of said recommendations on the proposed amendment, and before adoption of such amendment, the Council shall hold a public hearing thereon, at least thirty (30) days' notice of the time and place of which shall be given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the City once a week for two weeks. The notice shall state the place or places and times at which the proposed amendment to the ordinance, including text and maps, may be examined and other notices as required by State statutes or Planning Commission.

1201.7 Notice to Property Owners: In addition to the published notice as hereinbefore specified, the Clerk of Council shall give notice of the time, place and purpose of public hearings to be held by it on proposed amendments or supplements, by mailing a first - class mail notice not less than twenty (20) days prior to the date of hearing to the owners of all properties lying within two hundred (200) feet of any part of the property proposed to be changed. The failure to notify as provided in this Section shall not invalidate any recommendation adopted hereunder; it being the intention of this Section to provide notice to the persons substantially interested in the proposed change that an application is pending before the Commission, proposing to make a change in the Zoning Map or the regulations set forth in this ordinance.

1201.8 Action of Council: After receiving from the Planning Commission certification of the recommendations on the proposed amendment and after holding the above public hearing, the Council shall consider such recommedations and vote on the passage of the proposed amendment to the text of the ordinance or the Zoning Map. No such ordinance, measure or regulation which differs from or departs from the plan or report submitted by the Commission shall take effect unless passed or approved by not less than three-fourths of the membership of the legislative authority.

SECTION 1202. Application Fees

1202.1 At the time that an application for a change of zoning districts is filed with the Commission, as provided herein, there shall be deposited with the City Auditor, the sum of fifty ($50.00) dollars as a fee to cover investigation, legal notices and other expenses incidental to the determination of such matter, such fee to be for one lot or part of one lot. An additional fee of five ($5.00) dollars shall be deposited for each additional lot or part of an additional lot which may be included in the request, such additional lot or parcel of a lot to be adjacent to each other. Such sums so deposited shall be credited by the City Auditor to the General Fund.

1202.2 In the event that the Planning Commission disapproves the application and the petitioner elects not to have the same certified to the Council, then a refund of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars plus an additional refund of three ($3.00) for each additional lot or part of an additional lot which was included in the application should be made to the petitioner by the City Auditor; provided that the City Auditor is notified of such decision by the petitioner within thirty (30) days from the time of the action taken by the Planning Commission.

ARTICLE XIII — VALIDITY

1300. If any sentence, clause, section or part of this ordinance is found to be unconstitutional, illegal or invalid, such cause, sentence, section or part of this ordinance shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions, sentences, clauses, sections or other parts of this ordinance. It is hereby declared to be the intention of the City of East Liverpool that this ordinance would have been adopted had such unconstitutional, illegal or invalid sentence, clause, section or part thereof not been included herein.

SECTION 2. This ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety of said city and its citizens and shall take effect immediately upon passage and approval. Said emergency lies in the fact that zoning regulations are needed immediately to prevent the usage of land in certain areas in this city for purposes which should be prohibited in such areas and to end uncertainties now existing which prevent the building in other areas and for the further reasons expressed in the "purpose" section herein.

Junior Editors Quiz on ENTERTAINMENT

ANSWER: The wealthier families in ancient Egypt built very attractive houses, often enclosing a pool in which lotus plants grew, as shown in our picture. The children of such families had many things to play with. They enjoyed cats, which they had domesticated to keep down the mice which overran their granaries. Graceful, greyhound-like dogs were bred by the Egyptians to hunt antelope. The children must have had much fun with them, like the boy in the back. Notice the peculiar lock of hair on his head and that he is tossing a ball, one of man's most ancient playthings. The other boy has made a handsome model of one of the large ships which sailed up and down the Nile River at that time. Egyptian dolls shaped like a boat's paddle (front) are said to be the earliest dolls known to history. The one in the picture is being fitted with a beautiful new wig. Although children of poorer families would not have had as many playthings, they probably enjoyed themselves too, for the Egyptians were kind to their children.

On this date:

In 1777, British forces in the Revolutionary War evacuated New Jersey and crossed to Staten Island.

In 1934, Adolf Hitler began a purge of hundreds of political and military leaders in Germany.

Junior Editors Quiz on ENTERTAINMENT

ANSWER: The wealthier families in ancient Egypt built very attractive houses, often enclosing a pool in which lotus plants grew, as shown in our picture. The children of such families had many things to play with. They enjoyed cats, which they had domesticated to keep down the mice which overran their granaries. Graceful, greyhound-like dogs were bred by the Egyptians to hunt antelope. The children must have had much fun with them, like the boy in the back. Notice the peculiar lock of hair on his head and that he is tossing a ball, one of man's most ancient playthings. The other boy has made a handsome model of one of the large ships which sailed up and down the Nile River at that time. Egyptian dolls shaped like a boat's paddle (front) are said to be the earliest dolls known to history. The one in the picture is being fitted with a beautiful new wig. Although children of poorer families would not have had as many playthings, they probably enjoyed themselves too, for the Egyptians were kind to their children.

African City Plans Small Zoo For Blind

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP)—A miniature zoo where blind people can learn about animals is being planned by the Pretoria zoo. The project will probably start this year.

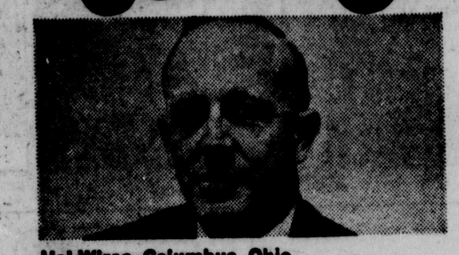

Zoo director D. J. Brand said the miniature zoo, which will form part of the children's section of the main zoo, would contain farm animals and a few of the tamer wild animals.

The section would be so designed that blind children and adults could touch the animals and so learn more about them.

African City Plans Small Zoo For Blind

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP)—A miniature zoo where blind people can learn about animals is being planned by the Pretoria zoo. The project will probably start this year.

Zoo director D. J. Brand said the miniature zoo, which will form part of the children's section of the main zoo, would contain farm animals and a few of the tamer wild animals.

The section would be so designed that blind children and adults could touch the animals and so learn more about them.
